DEPORT MRS. SULZER BECOMES PLATFORM IDOL

IS OF FABULOUS SUMMER.

Presented With Loving Cup
by Albany Friends,
Leaves Today

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 18.—There was red fire, oratory and music by a brass band at the executive mansion tonight, when several hundred admirers of William Sulzer called to present him with a loving cup.

A driving rain fell while the marchers were en route to the residence.

Sulzer started to shake hands with all of his callers, but did not complete the task. They crowded around him and refused to move. Some one said a few words of consolation to him only to be interrupted by Mrs. Sulzer.

"The action of the court is the best of our troubles," she said.

The crowd began to cheer.

"We'll have you back here next year, Bill," one man yelled.

Another enthusiast cried: "Hurrah for the next president of the United States."

Cheers for Mrs. Sulzer.

Thereupon there was more cheering for Mrs. Sulzer followed.

Chester C. Platt, Mrs. Sulzer's secretary, read a speech assuring Sulzer that he had been reprieved.

"I will hold him to it," he said.

"Lynch him," shouted one man at the mention of the name of an assemblyman.

The cup presented to Sulzer was inscribed: "To William Sulzer, a victim of corrupt bosses, October 17, 1912."

Mrs. Sulzer was presented with a bouquet.

She was in a speech, related to him, that she was a national—due to his display of "any hell."

Waving and waving.

Had I observed the bear, I told of my path of action. I would still be the bear, and the "old" "old" "old" bear, but I am on the back and I am the bear. That I am a good boy, a good boy.

—by the way, I am a good boy.

—by the way, I am

GENERAL FELIX DIAZ ARRIVES IN HAVANA
With Procession Immediately to Mexico to Look After Candidates

HAVANA, Oct. 18.—General Felix Diaz arrived here today from Europe on the steamer Corcovado. He was greeted on the dock of the vessel by Senator De La Garza, recently appointed Mexican ambassador general of Paris, who endeavored to persuade him to discontinue his journey to Mexico, to which advice General Diaz refused to listen.

General Diaz told the Associated Press that he would proceed immediately to Mexico and had no intention of abandoning his presidential aspirations. He said he was fully convinced that the election would be held October 25.

The general declined to express any opinion on other aspects of Mexican affairs, saying that he was not sufficiently informed about them as he had had only the barest outline of the news.

General Diaz, who apparently was in excellent health, was met also by a delegation of his personal friends from Mexico.

On account of rumors that an attempt would be made by Mexican conspirators to assassinate General Diaz in Havana, a strong force of police was sent aboard the Corcovado immediately on her arrival. The general said he would remain on the vessel until after noon and then go to a hotel to remain until the attorney continues his journey tomorrow morning.

MRS. EDDY'S FRIENDS NAMED AS TRUSTEES

Will Act in Long Litigation Taken by Corporation, N. H., Court

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 18.—The final will in the $1,000,000 litigation over the will of Mrs. Mary Putt G. Eddy, the widow of Judge C. L. Eddy, was filed in the Probate Court of Belknap County today at 12:30 p.m. The will, which was filed in the Probate Court of Belknap County, New Hampshire, on Oct. 12, was drawn by Mrs. Eddy's attorney, John W. Stewart, of Concord, and J. A. Neal, Jr., concurred in the will by the trustees of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and Joseph E. Eddy, son of the testator, who has been the practical administrator of Mrs. Eddy's estate since the testator died in 1907, the court thus having the trustees in whom Mrs. Eddy, during her lifetime, reposed confidence.

These appointments by Judge Carrington were made under recent decision of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, which held that Mrs. Eddy's will established not a local but a worldwide general charitable trust, to be administered under the general supervision of the courts of New Hampshire.

74 MEXICAN DEPUTIES ARRAIGNED IN COURT

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18.—Seventy-four of the 116 members of the Mexican chamber of deputies arraigned by order of Provisional President Huerta October 16, were formally arraigned today before the second judge of the federal district who has had charge of the investigation into the cases. The period for filing charges against the deputies elapsed today.

The charges entered against the deputies today were all for political offenses designated by the law as rebellion, sedition and "insults" to important public functionaries.

Ten of the deputies against whom there was said to be insufficient evidence were released today. The others had been previously set at liberty.

It was expected yesterday that Rodolfo Reyes, formerly provisional minister of justice, and Jorge Vaca Esteban, formerly provisional minister of public instruction would be released, but they were among those kept in custody.

The sensational arrest of the deputies on October 10 was a sequel to their signature of resolutions demanding an investigation into the disappearance of General Díaz-Díaz and warning the provisional president that if he did not guarantee their immunity from arrest they would hold their sessions somewhere else.

HUERTA WILL FIGHT

He adopts various ruses to escape from the scores striving to reach him with personal affairs. He slips out of unused entrances and takes round-about routes to hide his whereabouts. Col. Carlos Aguirre, his son-in-law, who is with him almost continually, sought him in a half-dozen haunts before locating him in the palace.

Various Rumors Not Credited.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Throughout the day, officials heard various reports and rumors that Provisional President Huerta of Mexico had resigned, or intended to do so, that he had secretly left the capital, and that General Banquet would succeed him. The state department received so many inquiries that it cabled Charge O'Shaughnessy for information.

The receipt of the positive statement from Mexico city, that Huerta did not intend to resign, somewhat clarified the situation, though administration officials were in hopes that the elimination of Huerta eventually might materialize.

There is, however, no time, however, to credit the report that Huerta actually had submitted his resignation to his cabinet and that it was refused because no successor able to cope with the situation could be found. Officials here declared it inconceivable that Huerta should submit his resignation to a cabinet of his own choosing, with any sincere intention of having it accepted.

May Become Candidate.

Among Constitutionalists here, the report was construed as meaning that Huerta had taken steps to point out that he alone was able to deal with the critical state of affairs. They believe he may even use that argument as a basis for becoming a candidate next week in the election of October 26.

State department advises from elsewhere reported that the governor of the state of Colima had resigned and that the state congress had designated in his place a military governor, Gen. Juan A. Hernandez.

Comparatively few Americans are now left in Torreon, Amaro and Vila- dura, according to information received from Monterey, and the difficulty of getting foreigners out of danger in places where they were cut off from communication appears to have passed. It probably will be several days before rail and telegraph connection between Monterey and Laredo is resumed.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN DENVER LAKE

DENVER, Oct. 18.—The body of Mrs. Max Hollander, a domestic, was found in the smaller lake at City park today. Authorities believe she committed suicide, as she is known to have been the victim of an incurable disease.

GAVE PROPERTY TO SONS. WILL NOW GET IT BACK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18.—Samuel Imman, 75 years old, who upon starting on a trip to Europe two years ago, fearing something might happen to him before he could return, turned over his controlling interests in a box factory to three sons, will not lose control of his business. This was decided by circuit Judge Bird here today.

SEATTLE ASSAY OFFICES CLOSE

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 18.—It was learned today that the Seattle assay office in common with other assay offices in western and northwestern states has ceased temporarily to receive gold, in accordance with an order sent out from the treasury department at Washington. The order is said, was made necessary by the fact that Congress failed to appropriate money for the transportation of gold from western assay offices to mint.

DEPORT MRS. PANKHURST

bad moral effect," she contended. "At the decision of the board she will be deported." She is responsible for the action taken by the special board in ordering me deported. I am of the opinion that it was done by our political opponents on the other side. I think the minds of the men here at the board were made up before I arrived here.

Describes Painful Experience.
"My experience before the board was very painful to me. At the beginning I asked to have a lawyer present to look after my rights, but this was refused bluntly. The board refused to let me make explanation. They interrupted me on almost every word, excepting that which I said about the grounds of moral turpitude. I told them they were certainly prejudiced. The board had a copy of the act of parliament under which I was convicted, and most of the questions referred to me to be prepared or stereotyped. The members of the board did not seem to me to be able to define 'moral turpitude.' I did it for them."

I was severely cross-examined in a manner that I believe was intended to make me fall into a trap. My response was to argue specifically on my conviction on an indictment found against me in England as the person who placed a bomb in Lloyd-George's home."

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch and other suffragists went to Ellis Island early this morning to talk to Mrs. Pankhurst. Samuel Untermyer had volunteered to plead Mrs. Pankhurst's cause, they said. They were informed that the island was officially closed for the day and that their interview would have to wait until tomorrow.

Harbert Reeves, Mrs. Pankhurst's counsel, spent the latter portion of the day consulting authorities to see if the government in arguing Mrs. Pankhurst's case, taking a copy of the minutes of the Inquiry board with him when he left to go to Washington.

"We're Not Militants!" Mrs. May.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who, it has been understood, was ready to supply a bond for the English militant, should one be allowed, did not appear actively in the crowd today. Among other suffrage leaders, the note of sympathy was frequently lacking.

To Mary G. Bay, president of the Women's Suffrage party in this city, the organization was not interested in Mrs. Pankhurst's visit.

"We are in no sense militants and not in sympathy with Mrs. Pankhurst's ideas," she said. "The mass of our cause in this country entirely on her own initiative and without any invitation from the Women's Suffrage party in America. We deplore the action of the United States government representative, however, because it gives Mrs. Pankhurst a lot of undue publicity without advancing, without giving a real work of our society in the U.S."

So far as the popularity of Mrs. Pankhurst is concerned, very few presented options of her - as spear by her supporters and her as an article, as she was taken to Ellis Island and appeared before the court. There was no suggestion of the hard women who could face rifle bullets to gain freedom. The immigration inspectors, watching her as she sat in the "well" in the court room, saw a delicate, pale woman, of modesty appearance. Her voice, as she responded to the formal questions, was that of a woman of good breeding. Tonight, weary after her experience of the day, she retired early, to all appearance composed, for a good night's rest and without worry as to the outcome of her case.

Militants Indignant.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The order for the deportation of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, coming on top of the publicly announced defiance of Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence from all forms of militancy, has caused great irritation among the militant suffragettes here. The headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union were kept open tonight but only members of the rank and file reported.

The famous "war cabinet" of the militant organization has been scattered by illness and prison bars. "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond is seriously ill. Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Kerr and Mrs. Saunders are in jail, while others are absent in the country.

Miss Amy Maud Hicks, who has served several terms of imprisonment for window breaking and obstruction, said:

Miss Hicks Plays United States.

"GETS-IT," the New-Plan Corn Cure, Makes Any Corn Shriveled, Vanish.

You'll say, "It does beat all how quick "GETS-IT" got rid of that corn. It's almost magic!" "GETS-IT" gets every corn, every time, as sure as the sun rises. It takes about 2 seconds to apply it. Corn pains stop, you forget the corn, the corn shrivels up, and it's gone! Ever try anything like that? You never did. There's no more fussing with plasters that press on the corn, no more salves that take off the surrounding flesh, no more bandages. No more knives, files or razors that make corns grow, and cause danger of bladed poison. "GETS-IT" is equally harmless, in healthy or irritated flesh. It "gets" every corn, wart, callus and bunion you've got.

"Madam, If You'd Use "GETS-IT" for Corns, You Could Wear Any Tight Shoe Easily!"

"GETS-IT" is sold at all druggists at 25 cents a bottle, or mail on receipt of price by E. Lawrence Co., Chicago.

Store opens 8:00, closes 6:00, every week day.

The Twenty-fourth Infantry was massacred. It was during this war that the French prince Imperial, Louis Napoleon, was killed while out reconnoitering with the British troops.

DISSOLUTION OF STEEL TRUST BITTERLY OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The buildings at the Hippodrome race track were destroyed by fire of unknown origin tonight. The burned buildings included the grandstand, clubhouse and stables. It is understood there were no horses at the track. The loss is estimated at $7,000.

LAST OF ZULU WARRIOR KINGS DIES IN AFRICA

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 18.—Mzilikazi, the last of the warrior kings of the Zulu nation of South Africa, died today. He was a son of Cetwayo, the king who led the Zulu nation against the British troops in the war of 1879. Cetwayo was eventually defeated after he inflicted a crushing blow on the British army at the battle of Isandlwana when practically the entire force was annihilated.

Representative Underwood today conveyed without comment a memorial more than four feet high and two feet long, covered with signatures of stockholders and employees of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, saying a dissolution would mean a pecuniary loss to them.

FLEET SMASHES RECORDS IN TARGET PRACTICE

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 18.—After smashing half a dozen targets and taking Secretary Daniels and a number of other department officials to a sample of American marksmanship, the Atlantic fleet is riding peacefully at anchor tonight, some on the southern drill grounds, others in Hampton Roads.

Secretary Daniels and party arrived this morning on the president's yacht,

"Mayflower." They are met by the batter "Ark" vs. Utah and Wyoming and escorted to the where the target was set up.

The targets were distinguished with difficulty at a long distance, but despite this the gunners scored several hits.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR SUMMONED TO BERLIN

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, summoned by the German foreign minister, Gottlieb von Jagow, to a special conference at the foreign office, arrived here today from his villa in southern Germany, where he has been spending his vacation.

A belief is current that the situation in Mexico will be the chief subject of conversation. The new American tar-promptness with which Captain Barr rushed his liner, under full steam and through a raging storm, there is little doubt but that the 521 rescued passengers would have perished.

OH COMPANY MAN'S STOMACH MISERY EXCELLENT SHOWING GAS, INDIGESTION

Drill Near 500-foot Point and All Conditions Are Favorable

The Grand Valley Oil company, operating about five miles southwest of DeBeque, Colo., in the Grand river valley, is meeting with unusual and gratifying success in its drilling operations, considering that it is drilling in new territory and has no "log" as a guide.

President Charles T. Fertig received word yesterday that the hole had reached a depth of 463 feet, and the chances are that by this time it is nearing the 500-foot point. Superintendent Marshall reports that conditions are all favorable and indications for oil are excellent. A showing of oil is expected by the company within the next two or three weeks and within five or six weeks they expect to cut the principal oil wells at a depth of from 1,200 to 1,400 feet.

The company has been operating only about two months and has had but one misfortune. This consisted of a "fishing job" that delayed operations about two weeks. Barring similar accidents rapid progress should be made from now on. The formation at present, however, is hard, although this is an advantage as the ground is standing up perfectly and casing has been unnecessary. The drill is now in a hard shale and a showing of gas an encouraging sign was encountered a few days ago.

In addition to the officers of the Grand Valley Oil company, consisting of Charles T. Fertig, president; M. A. Egg, vice-president, and C. A. Sheetz, secretary-treasurer, a large number of Colorado Springs men and women are stockholders. There are also one or two Denver men, two Oklahoma oil men and several Manitou, Colorado City, and DeBeque men interested in the company.

Additional Society

McKinzie-Whitney

Miss Margaret Louise McKinzie and Mr. Peterson H. Whitney will be married next Friday evening at the McKinzie home on North Weber street. The ceremony will be held at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Samuel Cervin and the bride will be given in charge by her father, Mr. J. H. McKinzie. Mr. McKinzie's wife will not be divorced as the giving out of details is not in accordance with the rules of the Associated Clergymen. It never occurs to them to consider the welfare of people who are not members of their church, and he has decided that he will do his best to make good with opportunity which their kindly provided for.

Vocal Meeting

The Ladies Missionary society of the Second Congregational church was entertained by Mrs. Klopfer, 944 South Cascade avenue, on Friday afternoon at her home. The afternoon was devoted to an election of officers and to hearing annual reports. The following were reelected: President, Mrs. C. Loomis; vice-president, Mrs. Sharp; secretary, Mrs. Harper; treasurer, Mrs. Simpson; city missionary, Mrs. Klopfer. The ladies presented Mrs. Klopfer with a nice Bible in honor of her sixty-fourth birthday and in recognition of her services rendered during the last year. Mrs. Klopfer has made nearly 700 calls on the sick and needy. From 4 until 8 o'clock a luncheon was served, there being 41 present. A social evening and program followed when piano duets were given by Mr. Alfred Ryter and Miss Hazel Benson, songs by Mrs. Nolan Bishop, club singing by Miss Leah Maude Nethers and music by Klopfer's orchestra.

Glen Eyrie Chapter

Glen Eyrie chapter No. 8, Order of the Eastern Star, held an enjoyable meeting on Thursday evening. Centennial chapter No. 55, O. E. S., had been invited to do the initiatory work and gave it very impressively. In celebration of Electa's night a very excellent program was given under the direction of Mrs. Ella Matthews, chairman of the entertainment committee, and consisted of the following numbers:

Song, "A Perfect Day," Mrs. Bella Hamble, accompanied by Miss Estelle Thill, violin, and Mrs. Simon, piano; "The Story of Electa's Life," Mrs. Carrie Brasil; "Electa, the Mother," Mrs. Fern Clarke; vocal solo, Mrs. Glen Mumford Noller.

Papa's Diapospin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at daytime or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest, surest relief known. Adv-presented with a cut glass dish in recognition of her services.

The evening closed with the serving of refreshments.

The Delta Phi Theta fraternity gave the first of its dances for the season last evening at the San Luis school. The ballroom was decorated with the fraternity's colors, and minstrelsy and music was furnished by Miss Ruth Lewis' orchestra. The following were guests: Miss Netta Powell, Miss Helen De Rusch, Miss Edna McReynolds, Miss Lloyd, Miss Evelyn Norton, Miss Dorothy Madden, Miss June Gilpatrick, Miss Evelyn Estabrook, Miss Ethel Shadowen, Miss Letitia Lamb, Miss Emily Hall, Miss Gladys Robertson, Miss Margaret Standard, Miss Leatherman, Miss June Eaton, Miss Olive Duke, Miss Charlotte Allard, Miss Helen Ringie, Miss Eva Dunaway, Miss Dorothy Balk, Miss Hall, Miss Harriet Ferrill, Miss Emily Landon, Miss Elizabeth Sutton, Miss Fisher, Miss Margaret Ayland, Messrs. Wats, Capo, Atwater and Dockstader. The "host" was Misses Gray, Glissa, Etula, N. Hall, Grimes, Muus, Guy, Will, Becker, Norden, Morris, Henn, Jas. Bunker, Taylor, Caldwell and Fuller.

The bride will be attended by Mrs. Richard Lee McKinzie as matron of honor and by Miss Florence Tidwell as maid of honor. Mr. Henry Tidwell will act as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinzie, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ruey McElroy and Mrs. Charles will all of Los Angeles, Cal., arrive in the Springs next Monday for the wedding.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Klopfer will participate in a "meal of William" which will be given at the First Methodist church Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting has also been arranged as a reception to the pastor of the church, the Rev. Verle N. Smith and Dr. Scott, the new district superintendent. Addresses will be given by Dr. J. H. Steiner, pastor of the First Baptist church; Dr. Scott and Dr. S. A. Smith.

The dinner will be held at 6:30 o'clock and reservations should be made before Monday morning.

Speech to Officers

Kit Carson Circle No. 2, Ladies of the G. A. R., held a regular meeting Friday afternoon in G. A. R. hall. There was a good attendance and several V. F. W. men were present. The department president, Mrs. B. Cook; department secretary, Margaret Lilly, and department press correspondent, A. R. Olmsted, all of this city, were present. The department president gave a very pleasing and interesting talk on the national convention held in Chattanooga, from which she has just returned. The department secretary made some remarks regarding her work thus far in the year and Mrs. Roy E. Davis, who has recently returned from an extended tour of the United States where she visited many historic scenes, gave a glowing description of her journey, which was much enjoyed.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served to 35 in honor of the department officers.

Wilbur's

Remarkable Offering of Suits, Coats and Dresses at $25 each

Just before leaving New York, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur consummated two of the most satisfactory deals this store has ever made. From one house they secured over 100 fine dresses and from another about the same number of coats and suits, all at prices that are rarely quoted except at the extreme end of the season. These garments are from two houses with whom we do an immense business annually, their garments being far the best on the market at a given price. Just now with all the wearing season ahead we offer our patrons the benefit of these special purchases, making a price that is seldom heard of except during clearance sales at the season end. In the lot are

Street Coats
Tailored Suits
Silk Dresses
Wool Dresses
Velvet Dresses and Evening Dresses

In an assortment that includes all the cleverest fall and winter modes, the latest and most fashionable colors, such as French mole, cafféine, gun metal, orient blue, dutch blue, paprika, raisin, shrimp, mahogany, tobacco brown, bronzes, greens and fancies. The range of fabrics embraces many new and clever weaves that will be seen only in this house and at the frost depths of the staple materials. This entire lot of garments on sale beginning Monday morning at $25.

your defense is made public. I wish it had been possible for you to write to me the letter of which you wrote, giving me the definite facts as to the effort of Mr. Murphy and his associates to bind you to their interest against the cause of honesty and decency in the popular government, and their promise of immunity to you from impeachment if you would cease your attacks on the men who have been guilty of misconduct and theft in connection with public office and if you would cease your demand for direct primaries. Such a letter giving me in detail the facts would of course have enabled me to speak much more strongly than I have done.

Platt also gave out copies of several telegrams Sulzer had received offering him lecture dates. A Kansas City man bid $10,000 for one lecture, a New Yorker $20,000 for 10 lectures, and another New Yorker, $50,000 for 50 and a Chicago promoter topped the list with $100,000 for the season. As yet the former governor has closed no contracts for public addresses.

This was the last night Sulzer occupied the executive mansion. He will leave tomorrow morning for Cooperstown, where he will spend three or four days in a summer hotel owned by a friend. He will be accompanied only by Mrs. Sulzer. From Cooperstown Sulzer will go to the mountains for a few days, probably, and then return to New York.

READY MONEY CLEVER AND LACKS SLAP STICK HUMOR

Really Capable Company Presents Much Original Fun, But Few Are Present to Enjoy It

By H. H. F.
How a real, impressive looking roll of yellow backed bills, "phony stuff" at that, "it makes a rich man overnight of a despondent young mine-owner by the mere occasional display of all this alluring wealth is the plot of an clever comedy, as has been seen in Colorado Springs in many theatrical sessions. A very small house greeted "Ready Money" at the Opera house last night, but the play-lovers who were not there missed a great deal of original fun and an ingeniously constructed comedy with many witty epigrams directed at that great American trait, the love of "the almighty dollar."

A prepossessing-looking young New Yorker, Stephen Baird, finds himself down to his last coin of a New Year's eve, and more or less despondent amid the gaiety of the successful group of young men who compose his more intimate associates. Jackson Ives, a cosmopolitan character of detection, defying power as a counterfeiter, tries to induce Baird to accept a roll of $20,000 in bogus money, and so aid in "the shoving the queer." Baird has a non-producing gold mine in Arizona, that may make good in a short time, but which is about to be foreclosed on a loan. The mere sight of the confidence inspiring bank roll which Stephen Baird has in his possession, starts a genuine stampede among his friends to "get in on the gold mine," for they feel that Stephen's supposed wealth means that the mine has proven a winner. Then enters the secret service, but Stephen proves true blue to his friend and incidentally too shrewd for Uncle Sam's sleuths. And so with never a dollar of the bogus money in circulation, Stephen has money enough to pay the loan on his mine, and then the mine, out of gratitude, one may suppose, promptly proves to be a big bonanza. Stephen Baird becomes wealthy, his marriage to the girl he loves is made possible and everything is as merry as the proverbial wedding bell.

"Ready Money" is clever and enjoyable without the slap stick humor and forced situations of the average farce. Robert Ober, who may be remembered as Monty Brewster in "Brewster's Millions," has the principal part of Stephen Baird, which he does very well in the main, with perhaps a slight tendency to overact. Douglas J. Wood as Jackson Ives, the man of the world and expert counterfeiter, is immaculately groomed and of the courtesy and impulsive manner which one is led to believe a successful counterfeiter should assume. Clarke H. Silverrell and Maurice Parrott, two young Jewish actors, are unconsciously funny, both of them possessing a perfect ham actor, supplemented by something akin to a facial twinkle in each.

Ambitious art is made by the Opera house management that October 26 Anna Held's all-star vaudeville and mid-Matinee is to appear at the Opera house. At $2.50 for the best seats, the same or 50 cents higher than the New York price, the "queer" takes a sensible view of the price schedule that will be appreciated by theatergoers.

300 "Guests" of Cheap Hotel Vaccinated; Polite Reserves Are Called Out

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Three hundred inmates of "Hogan's Chop," a 10-cent lodging house, were vaccinated tonight when the health authorities learned that John Scarry, a smallpox patient at the county hospital, had slept there on Thursday night.

Consternation seized the lodgers when they discovered the purpose of the four city physicians and six policemen who went over the four floors of the cheap hotel arousing the occupants.

Twenty of them fled by climbing down a fire escape and the reserves were called out from the Desplaines street police station to guard the building while the doctors performed their huge task.

Hermione I think you should allow me thirty dollars pin money a week. Herman Herman—Great Scott! You couldn't get as much as that in all my—Judge.

Too long we have approached this business from the supply side," he said. "It is time to discuss it from the demand side, because so long as there is a demand there is going to be a form of supply. And the change is not coming with vice commissions, it is not coming with prosecution; it is coming only with the change in the hearts of men."

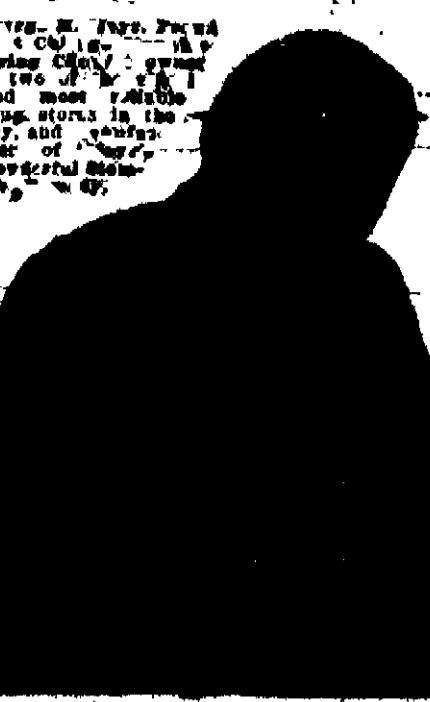

Dr. Summer said his cathedral was located "in the most vicious, poverty-stricken and immoral district" in Chicago.

"Turn away from that district for a moment," he said, "and I'll take you to the part of Chicago where live people of wealth and presumably of culture and refinement, people who because of their education and culture should set the standard of conduct for the community—and what do I see?"

"I find in their drawing rooms the same licentiousness, immoral fantastically named dances that I have just left in the immoral resorts of my district—dances which have been borrowed from an immoral source and which are in themselves immoral. The police check these dances in the dance halls of the poor. What but a social regeneration can check them in the halls of the rich?"

SERIOUS CAR SHORTAGE NOW IS IMMINENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Imminence of a serious car shortage on American railroads induced the interstate commerce commission to issue today a vigorous appeal directed to both railroads and shippers to give "close attention to methods of unloading, loading, moving and promptly returning to use the cars now available."

Public Is Invited to Attend
Opening of New Armour Plant

YOUNG & CO. COMPANY'S NEW COLORADO SPRINGS PLANT

The public of Colorado Springs will be guests Monday of the Armour Company at the formal opening of the company's new branch house on West Huertano street, which has been completed at a cost of $300,000 to replace the old sheet-iron building which has been used for the last ten years. At 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. the building will be open to visitors, and every hour there will be shown the plant from top to bottom. Lunch will be served noon to visitors, and all ladies attending the opening will be presented with handsome souvenirs. Manager Allen and his staff of assistants may put everything in shape for the big event, and the building presents an attractive appearance. The lavish decorations in the Art Deco—blue, green and white—the artistic display of Armour canned goods and other products will be the only thoroughly up-to-date plant west of the Mississippi river, and represents the advanced ideas in fireproof sandwich packing plant construction. It is built of reinforced concrete and tile and finished in red cut brick with stone trimmings, and what woodwork there is in natural Portland cement plaster is throughout the building, finished.

LESS MEAT

A QUARTER OF SALTS TO STRENGTHEN KIDNEYS IF BLADDER
BOTHERS YOU

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Clem Morris will speak to the boys of the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Special music will be furnished by the members of the department and all youths of Colorado Springs are invited to the meeting. Congressman H. H. Seldom will speak at the men's meeting at 3 o'clock.

meat regularly eventually causes kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority. The uric acid in meat excited the kidneys, they become overworked and gash, clog up and cause all distress, particularly backache. In the kidney region, twinges, severe headaches, constipation, torpid liver, gassiness, bladder and urinary trouble.

Monday night at 7 o'clock three large balloons will be sent up from the Y. M. C. A. building. Each balloon will have a tag attached good for a membership in the association and boys between the ages of 10 and 18 years may chase the gas bags and attempt to get the tags. The scheme is one of the starting features in the boys' campaign for new members.

Thursday night the boys' department will give a juvenile entertainment and yellow tags are now on sale for this event. The proceeds will go toward flooring the boys' cabin at Buffalo Ranch.

J. Jones is in a bad condition. Very much so. He had an attack of pneumonia and is now in a catastrophic condition. —Baltimore American.

DR. W. T. SCOTT AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH TONIGHT

The Rev. W. T. Scott, district superintendent of the Colorado Springs district, will preach at St. Paul's M. E. church tonight in the interests of the "Forward movement" which has for its purpose the raising of funds for the $6,000 chapel to be built at the corner of 16th and Navajo avenues.

Before receiving the appointment of district superintendent of the Methodist churches, Dr. Scott was pastor of the Capitol Hill church in Denver. He has a large number of books and is one of the most interesting speakers in the Methodist ministry in the state.

The Rev. Maria N. Smith, pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, will occupy the pulpit at St. Paul's church this morning. George A. Peckins, violinist, will play at the morning services and Miss Mitchell will sing in the evening. Drawings of the proposed chapel will be exhibited at both services.

Hiccups Vanish.

Chronic Dyspepsia.

The following unblotted testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicines I have taken, Chamberlain's Tabl. have done me more good than anything else," says W. Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold in head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed, nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness in distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear!

"LITTLE KANSAS" WILL UNDERGO HOUSECLEANING

"Little Kansas" is a popular spot west of the Rio Grande track, so long through the process of a thorough cleaning up at the hands of the West Side Improvement society which has reported to the city council through

D. E. Gilmore that the district will soon be in a fairly respectable condition. The dozen or so squatter families who formerly inhabited the place have moved and the shacks and cabins torn down and hauled away. If plans are carried out the place will eventually become a city park.

COLLEGE VESPER SERVICE

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medecines that contain codine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or a cold. An expectorant like

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cures out the culti-buds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases.

That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world-wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.

SPRINGS BOY, WITH UNCLE SAM'S MARINE SERVICE, DESIRES THE ANNUAL SHIP

L. Nye, Serving on U. S. S. Denver, Duties & Experiences Are Well Worth While

life on the ocean wave together with joys and trials of a marine in the vice of Uncle Sam is described in a letter received by Sergeant Perry of local marine corps recruiting station in E. L. Nye who is now serving on U. S. S. Denver. Nye is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Nye, 12 East Colorado Street, and enlisted in the vice in April, 1912. Parts of the letter follow:

After I left Colorado Springs I went to San Francisco and from there to Mare Island, Calif., for my three months' training. And there I found everything just as pictured in the circulars of the recruiting station. My time was pleasant for I had a good bed, tent and plenty of good food to eat. After every pay day we would get off for a trip to Frisco. The drills we had were not hard most days after drill we would go swimming or get up a game. After we got through with foot movements, tent pitching, running of arms and camp work we went to the target range and there we stayed for about three weeks. My stay at Mare Island only lasted about six months and I was then transferred to the Denver, September 24, 3. Am still with that ship.

Sailor's Service Most Fascinating.
Land duty and sea duty are different as day and night, but I think sea service is, by far, the more exciting of the two. When I am on board at Mare Island, of course, I am very green and a lot of the old hands had fun at my expense. However, I soon learned that there are much things as doors and windows on ship but rather decks and port holes instead. And I soon learned to call the side by its right name instead of name as most landlubbers are apt to do.

The Denver is a two stacker and is with the protected cruisers. We sailing party, lay in a stock of grub and fresh water and go out and stay until Sunday night.

Dream Days at 9 P.M.

"The hours on board ship are very regular and everything goes by routine. Reveille comes at 5 o'clock in the morning on week days and 5:40 on Sundays; breakfast is called at 7:30, coffee at 8:30 a.m.; we go to sea at 9:30 a.m. and "pipe down" goes at 9 o'clock."

Nye gives a good description of the way it feels to be on board ship during a storm. The storm of which he writes occurred while the Denver was in the Tehuantepec gulf.

"We were running only 4 knots (4½ miles per hour) and supper at 5:30 o'clock. We sat our dinner bags at 7:30 p.m. and "pipe down" goes at 9 o'clock."

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

art them off right with a good laxative and then watch their food.

RALPH M. PATTEN

Mothers are often unnecessarily careless about the diet of their little ones, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons, hence avoid what seems to constipate a child or to give it indigestion, and let it take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation, it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or泻药, for these should never be given to children; nor anything like oils, pills, etc. What the child requires is a small dose of the mildest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup "Pepsi," which is the opinion of thousands of thoughtful parents. It is ideal—try for any showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances to children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Every mother likes Syrup "Pepsi" as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A post card with your name and address on it will do.

girl-Wife Adopts Melodrama Tactics

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Little Madame Durand, the 16-year-old wife of a workman, was passionately in love with the theater. The other night her husband took her to see a fine jeune fille melodrama, with an unusually villainous villain and a cutely vicious dress forever distressing. Little Madame Durand is the misadventures of the distressed dame daily to heart, and is of nothing else all the way.

"I over I had her misfortunes," she said, "I couldn't bear it. I should go to the theater."

Her husband tried to create a diversion by offering a tour of convalescence. He was failed in his plan, was a drunk in a neighboring bar. But Madame Durand would not be separated, left him to his solitary reveries. A few months later he went to her, and his wife came by a nod of the foot of the dining-room. She was quite dead. She must by some strange trick of the imagination have killed herself with the drowsiness due to the drama she had just seen.

Recovering Speech in Football Game

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A remarkable incident occurred during a football match at Longcroft, Shropshire, resulting in Hugh Williams, a young man, regaining his power of speech after having been dumb for three years. Williams had been on a visit from Cardiff. He had suffered from fits, and usually placed a piece of wood in his mouth to prevent him biting his tongue.

About three years ago he accidentally swallowed a piece of wood, and subsequently he became dumb and also partly deaf. He had been under treatment and had undergone operations in Cardiff infirmary.

During an exciting period in the second half of the match he was taken ill, and emitted the piece of wood, and to his unbounded delight found his power of speech had been restored.

CANADIAN PACIFIC OFFICES IN AUSTRIA ARE CLOSED

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—The police today closed the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway company throughout Austria, after impounding all the books and correspondence. This action was taken as a sequel to the arrest on Thursday of Samuel Altmann, the company's agent here, in connection with a charge that he had assisted Austrians to evade military service by emigrating to Canada without permission.

REAL GREENHEART FOR PANAMA DOCKS

Poetry Expert Is Selecting Wood for Canal Works to Best May Be Had

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Clayton D. Mell of the United States forest service sailed today from New York for British Guiana to inspect greenheart timber to be used in the construction of docks and other marine works for the Panama canal. He goes at the request of the Isthmian Canal commission, in order that the engineers may be sure that they are getting genuine greenheart timber for which a number of inferior substitutes are offered.

Genuine greenheart has the reputation of being the most resistant wood to the attack of marine borers and to decay. Borers are especially bad in tropical waters. The wood is in addition hard, heavy and durable, and not subject to damage from impact and wear. Indisputable records show that the best grades of this wood surpass iron and steel as to lasting qualities in contact with salt water. It has been known and used since 1769. Logs have remained intact under water for 100 years.

Lock gates built in English canals have been made of it for years, and the only limit of their durability so far has been the length of service of their iron bolts and fastenings, which usually can be renewed without much trouble. Greenheart in Liverpool lock gates built in 1866, removed to allow a deepening and widening of the ship channel in 1894, was used over again when the gates were reconstructed. The mills and yards of the lock gates at Panama will be made of greenheart, and much of the docks will be constructed of the same material.

Used in Antarctic Vessels.

Nansen's ship, the Fram, and the Antarctic vessels, Discovery, used by one of the Scott expeditions, and the Gauss, used by Drygalski were all planked with greenheart.

The exceedingly great durability of the wood is said to be due, at least in part, to the presence of an alkaloid, which is used as a substitute for cinchona, the basis of quinine.

A number of other woods which grow with greenheart in the tropical forests of the Guiana resemble it so closely that they are likely to deceive even an expert. They have many of the qualities of the genuine timber, but in lesser degree. Some are quite inferior, and it is essential that they should be avoided.

In order that the canal commission may be sure of the right wood, it asked the forest service to assist it in an investigation of the greenheart situation in British Guiana, and Mr. Mell's present trip is a result of that request.

From the isthmus of Panama Mr. Mell will go directly to Pointe-a-Pierre, British Guiana, the principal port of export for greenheart. He will be accompanied by a member of the commission, and will see all the operations of lumbering in order that the true greenheart may be selected and identified without possibility of error. He will ascertain where the genuine can be obtained in sufficient quantities and right sizes, find out what substitutes are to be avoided, and prepare specifications which, incorporated in purchase contracts, will eliminate everything but genuine greenheart.

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

"LORRYING" COVERS MULTITUDE OF SINS

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative" and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowls, and the result is they become tightly plugged with waste. Liver gets sluggish, stomach sores, then your little one becomes cross, half sick, feverish, don't eat sleep, or get naturally breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stops him to his chores. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a tablespoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in few hours all the constipated waste, solid bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind, with contempt.

"LORRYING" COVERS MULTITUDE OF SINS

Term Applied to All Form of Seeking Favor; No-one
Have Lobby

By JONATHAN WINFIELD.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Since President Wilson issued his broadside from the White house charging the existence of a numerous and inidious lobby, many legislators have put on their spectacles and pried around in the catacombs of the past and into the shady places of the present in a frantic search for lobbies. Whether these worthy gentlemen are engaged in this practice because of any genuine patriotic interest, or whether their activity may be traced to an effort to curry favor with the president of the United States by joining him in the chase cannot be declared with any degree of certainty.

But what is certain, "beyond peradventure," as Samuel Gompers says, is that big lobbies and little lobbies, harmless lobbies, and venomous lobbies, have been uncovered. That little statement which President Wilson issued from the executive mansion, one evening after supper, may be likened to the striking of a match. The president struck the match and touched it to a substance which he believed needed burning out. That substance took fire like oil waste and has flamed up until its light has illuminated the activities of so many persons and organizations that Washington almost smells sulphurous, lobbyists and lobbyists—employers have been scorched and, it is said, that some of the congressmen who have been poking the fire have burned their fingers a little.

Lobbies Were the Style.

Lobbies have become the style in Washington. The word has practically passed into the saw. The man who stops you on the street and seeks to influence your tender heart to a point where he will be a beneficary to the extent of a drink's worth, no longer is called a panhandler. Oh, no. He is a lobbyist. If you want a raise in salary and have a heart to heart talk with boss about it, you are lobbying. If your wife is especially gracious and solicitous about the number of lumps of sugar in your morning coffee, and other matters pertaining intimately to your physical well-being, she is evidently lobbying for a hat, a sealskin coat or what not. Hellbells, hellhogs, waiters, taxiab drivers, hickmen, office boys, elevator men are not cringing when they approach one obscure wily. Oh no, they are lobbying. Everybody's lobbying now!

President Wilson is a positive genius. Many and many a pseudo successful song writer would give up his sleep for a thousand and one nights (Arabian or otherwise) if for compensation, it might be granted that he hit upon a word which would prove so popular a catch as that magic word "lobby," which President Wilson has conjured into everybody's mouth. It was major league work on Woodrow's part. Not even the grape juice of Everett Bryan, not the dollar diplomacy of Secretary Knox, not the big stick nor the square deal of Theodore Roosevelt, not the gold bug of President McKinley, not the famous despotism of President Cleveland, not the split rails of President Lincoln, not the coonshanks and hard cider of President William Henry Harrison, not any of the words and phrases which have been at home on the lips of the people following their pronouncement by popular idols, have had the vogue which the lobby of President Wilson has enjoyed and seems likely to enjoy for many months to come.

New Lobby Question Arises.

But probably the strangest lobby which has yet been charged is that which a certain ecclesiastical publication has discovered. It has to do with the movement, which recently has gained headway, to segregate white and colored employees of the government departments. The church publication in question not only supports the lobby, but has constituted itself a part of the organization.

Its position is that the black brother should be given an opportunity on a parity with the white hopes of the administration. The Democratic Fairplay association, a society which was organized in Washington at the dawn of the Wilson administration, has done yeoman service in the segregation work. It discovered that in certain cases white girls were forced to work under the supervision of colored clerks the officials in higher capacities. It was alleged that advantage was being taken of this state of affairs in some cases. This far south of Mason and Dixon's line, there is sometimes a little hesitancy on the part of white people to allow their daughters to be ordered around by colored men. Therefore the work of the Democratic Fairplay association found favor in many eyes. President Wilson, himself a southerner, countenanced the movement and there has been much segregation in many departments.

Now the church publication comes forward with the plea that discrimination is being practiced, that prejudice is being manifested against the black brother and that justice is being twisted. Somebody is holding an umbrella over either the just or the unjust, the new lobby complains; which of the two it does not specify.

Wave of Indignation.

A wave of indignation is sweeping among the colored people generally, says the anti-segregation lobby in a recent statement, "especially among the educated and wiser of the race, there are mingled indignation, alarm and grief." The new lobby says that President Wilson's ideas are completely divorced from sound democracy and the golden rule.

The lobby calls attention to the robbery of the Ethiopian race which it says was practiced when the administration gave the appointments of legislator, of the treasury and minister to Hayti to white men. It says that there are signs everywhere that the negro is being deprived of his just rewards. It also says the reasons advanced by the administration for the action are upon felony and prejudice.

A MONUMENT TO FAITH

WHAT doth it profit, my brethren, if a man say he hath faith, but have not works? Can not faith save him? If a brother or sister be naked and in lack of daily food, and one of you say unto them, Go in peace, be ye warmed and filled; and yet ye give them not the things needful to the body, what doth it profit? Even so faith, if it have not works, is dead in itself.—James 2:14-17.

There is to be dedicated today a magnificent memorial to the living faith of the women of Colorado Springs. Their needy sisters called to them. Young girls coming alone to Colorado Springs had no place to go where they could be certain of Christian surroundings, and they asked for a home. They had need of that companionship with other young women without which they are so easily led astray, and they asked for a place where they might meet others facing the same temptations and the same battles as themselves. They had need of God, and alone, amid temptations and privations, he is sometimes hard to find. They had need of daily food, nutritious, healthy fare at reasonable prices, and there was no place where they could find it.

But there were big-hearted women in Colorado Springs whose faith was not all abased in words. They did more than merely to say, "Go in peace, be ye warmed and filled." They decided to see to it that these sisters whose cry they heard should be warmed and filled. And, since there was no one else to do it, they decided to do it themselves.

The Young Women's Christian Association of Colorado Springs did not spring full-blown into existence. It took something more than a faith that folded its hands in its lap and sat down to wait events to raise that building that is being dedicated today. It took work of the hardest sort. It took sacrifices—that some of those who made them could ill afford. It took anxiety and worry. It took a high faith that would not admit even the thought of defeat, but that strove the harder the more difficulties arose.

And the work is not yet ended. The faith of those women who long years ago, in the humblest sort of way, began the work for young women in Colorado Springs, is nobly realized in the splendid building that has just been completed. And yet it is not realized, either. For the building is not an end in itself, but only a means to an end. And that end is that all young women in Colorado Springs who need help, and have nowhere else to go, shall find it at the Young Women's Christian Association. The building is but part of the plant for carrying on this work. Money is another part. But, more than all, are the big Christian hearts of women whose great desire is to serve their sisters.

It cannot be said that the Young Women's Christian Association, splendid as has been its accomplishments to date, does meet the needs of all young women. What has been done is marvelous, in view of the small beginning. But to be satisfied with what has been done would be unchristian. So long as there is in Colorado Springs one young woman who could be reached and ministered unto, and has not been reached, there can be no thought of rest.

And so, at the dedicatory services today and throughout the week, there will be no thoughts of a work ended. The whole emphasis will be on the enlarged opportunity for service made possible by the new building. There will be looking backward, of course, over what has been done. But this will be only for the purpose of taking courage for what yet remains to be done. The faith that works is never satisfied. It must be always pressing on. There is always work to do. The more one does, the more one finds to do, which is only Christ's way of rewarding those who work, since he counted himself blessed to be permitted to lay down his life in service.

Today, more than ever before, the Young Women's Christian Association needs money and workers. For, as the work has grown, the horizon has enlarged. The faith that once thought such a building as the one opened today would mean the fruition of all hopes, now has a wider vision. And the women who have worked so long and so faithfully, and with such glorious success, feel today that they have only begun their work. The larger opportunities for the faith that works still lie ahead.

JONES FOR POSTMASTER

TWO considerations are involved in the appointment of a new Postmaster for Colorado Springs. The first and more important is that of fitness for the office, by which we mean business experience, executive capacity and good standing in the community. The secondary consideration is political availability. On both grounds we believe W. C. Jones to be the most deserving candidate for the appointment.

Mr. Jones has had a successful business career of more than twenty years in Colorado Springs; in fact, it is noteworthy that he is the only active business man in the entire list of candidates for the appointment. This certainty is a weighty argument in his favor, for the management of the Postoffice is essentially a business matter, and one which intimately concerns the entire public.

For this reason, and also because of his widespread popularity and good standing, his candidacy is endorsed by a very large majority of the mercantile and other business interests of the community. They have confidence in his ability to conduct the Postoffice in the most efficient and businesslike manner.

As to the political aspect of the matter, it is of course inevitable that the appointment will go to a Democrat, and in all probability to one who has been active in party work. But there is no reason whatever for giving it to one who is already holding office as a reward for party service, or to a mere political hack. Mr. Jones has been prominent in Democratic politics here for a great many years, but he has neither held nor sought office since the expiration of a term in the Legislature some fifteen years ago. The fact that he has been a consistent and loyal party man, without being at the same time a perennial candidate, brings to him the present support of a majority of the people who are interested in the Postoffice appointment chiefly in its political aspect.

We realize that Congressman Seldomridge has no easy task in making a selection from the long list of candidates, but we are confident that his endorsement of Mr. Jones would give more general satisfaction than would that of any other applicant.

But there were big-hearted women in Colorado Springs whose faith was not all abased in words. They did more than merely to say, "Go in peace, be ye warmed and filled." They decided to see to it that these sisters whose cry they heard should be warmed and filled. And, since there was no one else to do it, they decided to do it themselves.

The Young Women's Christian Association of Colorado Springs did not spring full-blown into existence. Atmosphere in the governor's chair in Denver is a figurehead who fears to take decisive action of any sort.

What Colorado needs is a real governor.

Promptly on January 1, 1914, "Jimmie" Burns, ploughed again to get in action. And it is safe to predict there will be something doing. Those dare not Cripple Creek mining men will be forced to hunt the cyclone cellar.

Secretary Bryan has the new currency bill given the bankers enough to make them happy. With Spartan avarice, however, the bankers have every open expression of joyousness. One would even think to hear them that they are very decidedly not happy.

Judge Strong of Boulder has decided that picketing is illegal, now no court decisions will settle our labor troubles.

"Mr. Frost's chances of reelection as Governor of Massachusetts can be very accurately gauged by whether or not he determines to run."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

As he is now running, it is goodbye to Captain Gardner.

"This morning the sun appeared again after a full way of obscuration."—Boston Transcript.

And yet some people who could just as well live in this City of Sunshine, persist in remaining in Boston.

The Washington Star editorializes on Sulzer and his future. Does he have a future?

"The intermission between the baseball world series and the beginning of the next season will no doubt give the English language a chance to steady itself."—Christian Science Monitor.

Poor old Boston! Its esthetic sense is so shocked by the rude jargon of the sporting page.

"Another reason why West Pointers should not be permitted to play football is that they are so good at it, and the regulations could possibly be changed so that they would have time for cricket."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A judge from Mr. Marquardt's "A Trustee for the People" said that if the other Giants had let him play, the game by Marquardt would have won the series. —Alfred Stearns right.

The Reds was ever such a madly shrinking violet.

From the fact that those Russian explorers twice saw giant淑vets it is evident they had a little something wet in their ship's stores.

"Robson is a bold buccaneer. It takes courage to attack in a Democratic congress, the father of the tariff bill in the hour of his victory and presumably greatest popularity."—Federal City Journal.

No one ever accused the hero of the Martini of lack of courage.

Connie Mack's ambition is to win a world's series with nine men. McGraw has been trying for three years to win it with one."—B. L. T. in Chicago Tribune.

"The canal, it is said, could be used tomorrow if an emergency arose.

There is Democratic promise, too, of three new battleships.

JAF papers please copy.—B. L. T. in Chicago Tribune.

And maybe our California friends can now sleep 'nights.

"We just had to show those two United States senators their places in Colorado politics, was the way Julius Achelis explained why he handed it to Shadroth and Thomas and the alleged national leaders after it was all over."—Fort Collins Express.

Xerxes progressive Democrats proud to belong to a party headed by the fragrant Julius?

The Dutanko Democrat claims the election of John T. Barnett as national committeeman was not a slip at Senator Thomas. If to elect a candidate whose election Thomas had protested against is not a slip, then Thomas wasn't slipped.

Poor Congressman Seldomridge, only 12 candidates for postmaster in Fort Collins from whom to make choice.

Horace Havemeyer, director in the Great Western Sugar company, says free sugar won't ruin the beet sugar industry. Aren't the Republicans going to have even a single plank left on which to make a campaign in 1914?

There is every indication that the Republicans and Progressives will get together next year in the state and nation.—Fort Collins Express.

What the Express should have said is that Republican office-seekers are desperately praying for such a get-together. There is no indication that the rank and file of the Progressives want any sort of fusion.

"As a chairman Jesse McDonald has never fired much in way of brush, but then Jesse isn't chairman of much—just cash boy for the remnant counter."—Durango Democrat.

Isn't it just like that rascal, Dave Dix, to speak thus disrepectfully of the dead?

"It is really too bad that Golden should have to pay exorbitant coal prices. When there is enough light under the city to supply the entire state, if some enterprising people would put up the money to sink a shaft."—Golden Transcript.

Why should our municipalities always depend on private capital? Why doesn't Golden do that little job of coal mining for itself?

The "Different" Corsets Frolaset and Madam Lyra

The function of a corset is to create a beautiful figure; not simply a pretty back. The Frolaset front lace corset certainly does give a beautiful figure.

You can wear a Frolaset all day. It will not subject you to any discomfort whatever. You will never feel like taking it off. A Frolaset is, indeed, a comfortable corset.

We are sure that when you see how much prettier your figure will appear in a Frolaset, you will buy one. That is why we are anxious to give you a trial fitting.

Frolaset Corsets lace in the front, but if you prefer the regular style we suggest our "Madam Lyra" Corsets. They are distinctly out of the ordinary class.

We would like to have you come in whenever you have an opportunity to spend fifteen minutes and allow us to try one of these new models on you.

Unless you are perfectly satisfied, we will not urge you to buy the corset itself must convince you, not our word.

MADAM LYRA CORSETS, charmingly modish every respect, and are being sought more and more by fashionable and particular women who know and demand perfection in corsetry.

At $5 we have a beautiful model for average figures, built of soft dainty broche, long over the hips and back with a medium low bust. Six hose supporters.

"FROLASET" the latest achievement in Front Laced Corsets. Made of firm, pliable materials, substantially boned, but free from stays over the hips.

One of our $3.50 models—a corset for the average and well-developed figures medium bust with long hips, made of fine coutil, three pairs of hose supporters attached.

At $3.50 a good, straight line corset for slender women's figures low bust with long hips and back.

Our best $5 model comfortable and perfect fitting for average figures a low bust, long hip style, made of coutil, double over the hips and with an elastic inset in the center of the back, giving a snug fit. Six hose supporters.

Among Our Coat Materials is Something Becoming to You.

We have truly a splendid showing. All new and so stylish looking! The values are unusual considering the extreme widths of the goods requiring so little to complete the coat.

New Plaid Coatings rich designs in blue and green and brown and black combinations; 54 inches wide, at $3.75 a yard.

It is important that you see, before buying coat material, our

Special Three Dollar Lot

ESPERANTO

ESPERANTO IN THE SCHOOLS

There are two arguments against Esperanto which are pretty sure to be among the first which its advocates encounter, and, to judge from recent experience, hold out till the last. Neither of them possesses any remarkable virtue except this one of unlimited power of survival after being killed by which respect they rival the Wandering Jew. One is "English is good enough for me and good enough for us both."

Last week a few of the arguments in favor of teaching Esperanto in the schools were presented, and I have heard of the reply of one language teacher: "When it has been made a school study, I will consider it." Well, when it has already been admitted into one phase of which doctrine was noticed in a recent article in this column. The other is even less respectable in point of intrinsic merit, and runs thus: "When Esperanto has been generally adopted, I will take it up." No infant can fail to see that universal acquisition in this principle would forbid all advance in every line of human endeavor. Suppose I wish to quash a meeting of the open forum, will it not suffice if I can induce every one who thinks of entering the hall to wait until the latter is half full?

In Great Britain, as reference has recently been made to the success of H. B. Maudie in securing volunteer courses (not, as above, directly sustained by governmental aid) in numerous schools, a few specimen instances will suffice. One such course in the Liddon Memorial school in London (which appears to be a girls' school) attracts my notice because of the report that the Esperanto study was found useful (as indicated last week) in the study of both French and English grammar; also that the students put an advertisement for correspondence in an Esperanto journal to which they received more than 300 replies.

In Spain, Esperanto receives the acceptance with every country in so far except Italy. The "education committees" in Middlesex and in some municipalities as Hastings and Tunbridge have introduced Esperanto into certain of the schools under their jurisdiction. In the universities the fact is noted that Dr. John Jackson, professor of Greek at Cambridge, and Gilbert Murray, Trajano professor of Greek at Oxford, have recently become members of the British Esperanto association.

In Russia the attitude of the authorities appears to vary in different places between wide limits. In some places we read of Esperanto clubs being forbidden to meet; but at St. Petersburg there are Esperanto societies in connection with as many as nine important educational institutions, a large one in the university, and another recently organized among members of the Russian Society of Civil Engineers. Esperanto is taught officially in the high school at Vosnessensk, where there is a library of over 100 Esperanto volumes. It is also taught at the School of Commerce at Moscow. The university at Warsaw has an amateur Esperanto group, and other places in Poland report similar provisions.

In Spain, Esperanto receives the ac-

FUMBLED PUNT AND LACK OF "PUNCH" BEATS TIGERS; SCORE, UTAH, 7; C. C., 3

THREE TIMES IN YARD OF MORMON GOAL LOCAL TEAM FAILS TO SEND MAN OVER UTAH IS OUTPLAYED FROM THE START

Balch Drops Kick, Travers Picks It Up and Runs 70 Yards; Visitors' Line Punctured at Will; Taylor Stars

Colorado college was one blue blotch on the map of Colorado Springs last night. No bells tolled-out victory, no students gaily paraded the streets, no red fire-burned. Instead, the "I" club held gloomy session and wondered how it all happened, like New York fans did a week ago.

The Tigers lost to Utah yesterday through the distressing lack of football judgment at the psychological moment. When a football-team can outplay the opposing eleven as badly as the Tigers did yesterday, and smash its way to the enemy's one-yard line four times, and then fail to deliver the "punch," our old and badly-used friend Dame Fortune cannot be blamed.

Utah won the game in the first five minutes of play. Forced to fumble in the last minute of play, the Tigers lost it at whistle to last whistle, that the Crimson never had a chance to score through offensive tactics and that their defense was weak except within the one-yard line.

The old veterans last night tried to analyze what should have been done at the goal posts when the Tigers had forced the ball time and time again. Many would not have attempted the forward pass many would have tried an end run, many would have tried Taylor through the line again. All agreed that something else should have been done.

McIntyre then kicked goal and it was this kick that gave the Mormons their extra point needed to win.

The C. C. mildly puffed at so a touchdown, me back and the two "old" Taylor, Clough, Esmond & Balch, tore off yard after yard through the Mormon line and around the ends. It looked like a Tiger victory without a doubt. Twenty yards to the line a forward pass shot out to Taylor, and he was downed on the 20-yard line. Then Taylor carried the ball over. Kramer kicked out to Balch who made a good catch. There was no anxiety in the stands when Kramer missed the goal. The Tigers had the enemy on the run and it looked like only a question of time until there would be a C. C. touchdown. But they waited for the touchdown that never came.

Over on the banks of the big sodium chloride splash there is much rejoicing. Utah's victory yesterday was not the defeat of the Tigers but merely a one-point margin in the score.

The bittered Tiger enemy today knows that Colorado college has the better team, that the Black and Gold fell on it. The Tigers sprang to their places, the signals were valled and Kramer dropped back to try for goal. The line reared and Utah men went through the tired and desperate Tigers and the kick was blocked.

First-Half Ends Sadly.

The end of the first half saw a similar occurrence. Simplicity the lack of "punch" failed to send the ball over. The Tigers had worked the leather to the one-yard line where the Crimson line held firmly. Taylor, who in the middle of the field was never thrown for a loss, tried time and again to make the 20 inches needed but the Mormons held. A forward pass to Bowers was successful, it seemed, and the stands began to shout. Then the referee brought the ball back. Bowers' foot had slipped out of the zone behind the goal line. Utah fumbled out of danger.

Wanted Goal Kicks.

A sharpshooting goal kicker could have won yesterday's game for the Tigers and won it two or three times. Kramer, who had a perfect run against Wyoming, was unable to get the ball between those two bars yesterday. Three times he tried it. At the end of the first half, 30 yards from the Crimson posts, he settled back for the kick. The ball sailed and thumped against an upright and another chance to score went glimmering.

Fumbling was the Tiger weakness yesterday. The handling of punts was the weakest part of the Tiger play. McIntyre was outboxed by Cloughay, but instead of taking the ball on the run, the Tigers let it go and many times lost ground by so doing. And all the fumbling was not in the open field.

Cloughay's Fatal Error.

If Cloughay had not let the leather slip out of his arms in the first few minutes of play, Utah would probably never have scored. The Tigers had advanced the ball from the kickoff on straight plances that were spectacular. Then Cloughay tore through the line and over the mark but as he struck the ground the ball bounded from his arms and a Utah man snatched it up. From this touchback Utah took the ball to the 20-yard line and then McIntyre punted and Balch fumbled and Travers took the ball.

Every member of the back field fumbled the ball. Taylor, hero of the game, did it. Esmond and Cloughay and Balch did it. The Tigers were the aggressors throughout the game and played the offense most of the time. Utah found the Black and Gold line absolutely impregnable and with the exception of a few short gains gave it up as a bad job. Runs around the ends and tele formations gave them the few yards they gained. Utah followed the ball with a fierceness that was a redeeming feature of their play.

The Tiger backfield played wonderful football yesterday. Jack Taylor made nearly 100 yards himself, while the plumping of Esmond and Cloughay was consistent. But Taylor was the star of the game and his work will probably gain him all-conference honors. Esmond follows a close second. Nervy and scrappy, he fought for every inch and many times would gain yards by hurling himself into a group of Utah players.

Balch played exceptionally good football. His running with the ball was sensational and his gamy tackles brought him grandstand cheers that were deserved.

The entire Tiger line was stronger than against the Wyoming team. It was almost impossible to gain through those seven men. Bowers, the true-blue sportsman, leader and veteran, played high-class football. So fiercely did he fight that he was laid out four or five times before he would quit, and then he returned to the game to put up a finish fight. Kramer's offensive and defensive work was good. He never was given the ball but that he gained ground. His smashing tackles laid many a Mormon low.

Gibson, at right tackle got into the fight many times by stopping plays, blocking forward passes and making holes for the backfield.

Gorch Koch, who took Rose's place when the latter was injured, showed up to his old-time form in the line.

Cheese, who was sent in for Esmond, made some good gains, spectacular ones, but his fault of running back lost the college many yards.

TEGRITY OF ALL PLAYERS STABILISHED

TAYLOR CLUB CHAMP; DEFAIS W. K. JEWETT

Walter Weather Prevents Good Golf, but Many Brave
the Storm to Play

F. M. P. Taylor yesterday won the championship of the Colorado Springs Golf club in the final match with W. K. Jewett, defeating the veteran expert, 5 up and 4 to play. Both of the men were off their play due largely to the cold wind that swept the course, watched their movements.

In the consolation, F. L. Newbold won from Gordon Stephens, 1 up at the 19 hole. Newbold gets the consolation cup presented by W. M. Randal.

Stephens won the regular 18-hole handicap sweepstakes with a net score of 82. W. W. Williamson being second with a net 84.

In the first round for the ladies championship, Miss Moore defeated Miss Hall by default. Mrs. Harmon beat Miss Dickerman, 1 up; Miss Ferguson defeated Mrs. Brub, 2 up and Mrs. Perkins won from Mrs. Shearer, 6 up and 4 to play.

Naturally, he cannot expect to have refunded to him more than the straight price, $2.

Mack was criticized for not winning the first game against Mathewson when he had a man on third, and second, with none out in the ninth. He was accused of "framing up" because, instead of using pinch hitters, he let Lapp and Plank hit. Both were victims of George Wilson, who made two phenomenal stops and eliminated the man running home.

"My judgment," Connie told the writer, "was that either Plank, Lapp or Murphy was able to bump a sacrifice fly or hit one to the infield, on which a runner would score."

"What happened would not take place the same way in 30 or 40 years. I see now that my judgment was wrong, but it is easy to make a second guess."

PURE FOOD LAWS BEING ENFORCED

DR. ALFRED CONTINUED
PROSECUTION

Campaign Against Violators
Waged With Unrelenting Vigor

By SIDNEY ESPEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The pure food law, which is linked with the name of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley in the public mind just as the cherry tree is connected with the name of George Washington, has faded from the lime-light since Dr. Wiley stepped from public to private life, but recent bulletins issued by the department of agriculture reveal that the enforcement of the pure food law has not abated one whit.

Dr. Carl Alberg, who already is known nationally as the successor of Dr. Wiley as chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, is enforcing the pure food law and seeing to it that violators of the law are punished, but his activities have not gained more than a small fraction of the publicity that was given Dr. Wiley, and an erroneous impression has spread that the pure food law has become, in a sense, a "thing of the past."

Law Being Enforced

On the contrary, enforcement of the law is going merrily along, and adulterators of food and false labelers of food contents are learning that Uncle Sam does not intend to permit zood evils to continue. Bulletins issued by the department of agriculture show that almost every day some violator of the pure food law is punished. The violators are prosecuted through the nation, but reports of all cases are made to the department of agriculture.

A few days ago David and Solomon Katsavitz, doing business under the firm name of the Star Extract works, New York city, were fined $50 for shipping red-worm color adulterated with arsenic. The product was alleged to have been adulterated because arsenic was added as a poison and deleterious ingredient which "will render the worm unsafe for injurious to the health of the consumer."

Another fine was imposed upon the New York City company of Goldstein, N. J., for shipping into New York a quantity of tomato pulp alleged to be 50 per cent adulterated because it contained a nitro-diacetone derivative which "will render the pulp unsafe for consumption containing salts of calcium and molds."

Still another fine was imposed upon the New York City company of Goldstein, N. J., for shipping into New York a quantity of water heated to 100° F. for adulterated because it was 100% of a nitro-diacetone derivative which "will render the water unsafe for consumption containing salts of calcium and molds."

A fine of $100 was imposed upon the New York City company of Goldstein, N. J., for shipping into New York a quantity of water heated to 100° F. for adulterated because it was 100% of a nitro-diacetone derivative which "will render the water unsafe for consumption containing salts of calcium and molds."

The Wiley M. Webster company of Memphis, Tenn., was also fined. The company was accused of misbranding lemon extract because the product was labeled "Pure Concentrated Extract of Lemon," when, as it was, an extract of lemon artificially colored with a coal-tar dye concealing inferiority. Adulteration was also alleged in banana extract labeled "Pure Concentrated Extract of Banana," because analysis showed that an imitation banana flavor, artificially colored, had been used. The company also was accused of misbranding and adulterating because quantities of strawberry and pineapple extract were labeled "pure," whereas it was alleged that in each case an imitation extract had been artificially colored and mixed with the products.

Charles Sand of New York city was fined $50 for shipping a quantity of turpentine purporting to be spirit of turpentine into Connecticut. It was found to contain at least 4 per cent of mineral oil, whereas the authorities held the product should not have contained any mineral oil. The product was labeled "Pure Spirit of Turpentine," and therefore adulteration was alleged.

Other Concerns Fired.

A fine of $50 was imposed on the Suffolk Drug Corporation of Suffolk Va., for shipping into Michigan quantities of essence of cinnamon, essence of peppermint and vanilla extract which were alleged to have been adulterated because the products were found to contain substances which would injuriously affect their quality and strength.

A mixture of boiled cider and diluted acetic acid contained in a product labeled "cider vinegar" shipped into Illinois, resulted in the shipment the Amazon Vinegar and Pickling Works of Davenport, Ill., being fined $10 and costs. Adulteration and misbranding were alleged in this case.

James Vanatta, pharmacist and chemical company of Indianapolis, Ind., accused of shipping a quantity of "Candy Vice," contained in a package and paper bearing alleged false and misleading statements, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs. The misbranding was alleged to have been contained in the words "a harmless and speedy remedy for headache, neuralgia, sleeplessness, depression induced by excessive indulgence in liquor, sour stomach, indigestion, nausea and nervous disorders." It was also said to be "pleasant as cream soda."

Having recognized the product as harmless, the label also contained the following: "Acetophenetidin less than 4 per cent." According to the view of the department of agriculture, the statement that the product contained acetophenetidin is inconsistent with the statement that it is harmless. The defendant pleaded guilty.

Kimball Bros. & Co., a corporation of Enosburg Falls, Vt., pleaded guilty to misbranding and was fined $200. It was charged that the company shipped that is immune to the disease, and seems to flourish where the former variety would wither and die.

That above described case, selected at random from among the numerous bulletins being continually sent out by the department of agriculture, show that the department is doing in seeing that the pure food law is obeyed in almost every state in the Union and in nearly all of the big cities, federal prosecutors within the last year have been on the trail of manufacturers and shippers who send out impure products for bigger gains at the risk of arrest and punishment.

The banana disease has caused great loss to the growers during the last year but the United Fruit Company has been spending large sums of money in experimenting and studying this plague, with the result that it has discovered a plant, called the Australian banana, that is immune to the disease, and seems to flourish where the former variety would wither and die.

HOW PRISONERS SIGNAL

Communicate With Each Other In Spite of Wardens

From Answers

Toward the end of last year four prisoners confined in a gas plot to gain their freedom.

Their idea was to attack the first warden who entered one of their cells with a leg of the cell table capture his ward key so that the escaping prisoner should liberate his comrades. The warden in the gate lodge was next to be overpowered, and after that the governor was to be snatched to the outside of the gate.

Three of the men were appealing against their sentences and were given a pen and ink to write their appeals. Although the writing materials were taken away at once, yet one of the lags had already made an inkpot out of cobblers wax used in making mall bars and hidden some ink in it. A pen was itself made of a feather, and blank sheets extracted from library books and such like, were the paper. The slips, or messages, were exchanged in shape, hidden inside hymn from the Kansas City Star.

World's Biggest Tillable Farm Yields $100,000 Annual Profits

HERE are some recent glimpses of the largest tillable farm in the United States, the 23,000-acre ranch of the late David Rankin, near Tarkio, Mo., as it is being tilled today.

On the largest tillable farm in America there is one gang plow, pulled by a traction engine. One may learn on the 23,000-acre farm of late David Rankin, near Tarkio, Mo., is that a plow does not pay when diversified farming—raising of corn, wheat, oats—is followed. The men who run the big Rankin farms say that a plow is a good thing in the wheat fields of Missouri, where hundreds or thousands of acres of land is to be turned over every year. There is no level, the furrows are long, often miles in length. But in Missouri or eastern Kansas, where hills occupy a large part of the landscape, the plow has proved a failure. The corn rows are the fields often are crossed and recrossed by hills and ravines that a traction engine pulling a set of plows cannot pass with convenience. But the greatest obstacle to wholesale plowing in the country, according to the experiences at the Rankin farm, lies in the fact that gang plows produce unnecessary vacation for the horses. On the Rankin farm, where 14,000 or 15,000 acres of corn is cultivated every year, it is necessary to maintain at least a hundred head of horses and mules to cultivate the crops after they are planted. While the plow, propelled by steam, is turning over thousands of acres of rich corn, wheat and oat land, horses thus maintained for the cultivation of the top and other farm work, stand idle. But they eat three meals a day and kicking up their hind legs in adjoining fields as the steam plow goes on past. The tractor and the gang plow is of use in the plowing and the picking of corn, and horses are. Hence it has been proved on the big farms that the tractor and the gang plow, in any where diversified crops may be raised, is a snare, and the tractor and gang plow were sold to the Rankin farms by an oily old man two or three years ago who has entered into the service of the "biggest farm in the world."

Horses and mules are not permitted to grow old on the Rankin farms. Every year a sale is held and every horse and every mule that has had a respectable age, is disposed of. The United

Government has figured that a horse or a mule is the maximum of its usefulness at eight years, so maximum is never reached on the Rankin farms. Practically every year the stables on the 10 acres are rehabilitated with practically an entire population of work animals, insuring the maximum of efficiency. At the last sale, 357 horses and mules were sold and the proceeds of the sale netted more than $25,000. Buyers come from points hundreds of miles distant to Tarkio to attend these sales.

In the last three years 25 silos have been built on Rankin farms. There are nearly 100 windmills.

First silos were built of wood. It was found that silos were easily blown down and that they otherwise unstable, so for the last two years

silos have been built of hollow tile, reenforced with concrete. It has been more expensive, but more economical.

An eloquent argument for good roads is furnished by the Rankin farms. The farms extend from Tarkio up into Iowa, the distance from one end to the other being 25 miles. Five thousand cattle were fed on the farms this year. Fourteen thousand acres of corn were grown, 3,000 of wheat and 3,000 of oats. The crop from the 3,000 acres of wheat, which averaged between 25 and 30 bushels to the acre, was sold in Tarkio—the only crop that is ever sold from the Rankin farms. The corn is fed to the cattle and the oats to the work animals that keep the farm in operation.

Yet, notwithstanding the vast acreage of corn raised on the farms this year, as in other years, corn will be purchased to feed stock on some parts of the Rankin farms this year. Corn will be sold on that part of the big farm which lies near Tarkio, and purchased from neighbors for feed on that part of the farm farthest away from the town that has been built up by the Rankin family.

According to W. F. Rankin, president of the Rankin Farms, this is due to the bad roads in Nodaway county. It is cheaper to sell corn on the farm near town and purchase corn at the extreme end of the farm than to haul the product from the one farm to the other.

Forty years ago, David Rankin came from Illinois, and began to buy these rich Missouri acres. And David Rankin believed in rotation of crops. On the Rankin farms corn has never been grown more than five years in succession. After five years of corn, the ground usually has been sown to wheat, with a carload of timothy and clover. After the wheat is harvested the timothy and clover has been allowed to stand for five years, pasturing the land. Then back to corn. But notwithstanding this rotation of crops, the present managers of the farm have not been satisfied. So this year two carloads of fertilizer have been purchased and sown with 150 acres of the wheat. This wheat crop will be watched with great care. It must produce enough additional wheat over the ordinary crop to pay for the fertilizer and a profit besides. Otherwise the use of fertilizer will be abandoned.

No manufacturing concern in America keeps

Rankin Farm at Tarkio, Mo., of 23,000 acres, is farmed on theory that never a bushel of corn may be sold. All comes back in manure. Rotation of crops is practiced.

YOU SEE we farmers must not only keep eternally at reducing cost of production, but plan a way to get the most out of our product use your head as well as your hands, for it is the little savings that make up the profit at the end of the year. It takes sharpening of wits all the time. Remember, we farmers must figure for ourselves the other fellow looks out for his own interests. Extract from a history of his operations in farming written by the late David Rankin of Tarkio, Mo., shortly before his death.

closer tab on its business than do the Rankin farms. In a little office about 12x14 feet, in the rear of the First National bank, a Rankin institution in Tarkio, two clerks and an adding machine are busy with a set of books, and from one year's end to the other they keep track of the business of the big farm. The farm is divided into 10 ranches ranging in size from 640 to 4,760 acres. Five of the ranches are operated on a partnership basis, the Rankin farms furnishing the land against the labor of the partners. The records in the office in Tarkio show that the more profitable farms are operated direct from the Tarkio office by the Rankins themselves, under a system by which they employ the labor and look after all details. At the end of each year a recapitulation sheet is made up, showing in great detail the profits for the year. For the year 1912 the following results were shown:

No. Acres.	No. Ranch.	Method	Profit an Acre.
1,360	1	Direct	$6.06
1,040	1½	Direct	7.06
560 (sold March 1)	2	Direct	5.98
800	4	Partnership	7.83
3,520	5	Partnership	3.95
4,760	7	Partnership	2.85
1,760	8	Partnership	2.59
659	9	Rental	2.54
640	10	Direct	6.74
2,236	11	Direct	6.80
1,374	12	Direct	4.81
3,244	14	Partnership	5.64

The profit in round figures on the entire farm for the year was $100,000. The land is valued in the neighborhood of $125 an acre, representing an investment of nearly $3,000,000, and including implements and stock close to $3,500,000. The books for last year show a profit of much less than 6 per cent, notwithstanding the persistent talk that the American farmer is getting very rich.

A record of every transaction on the Rankin farms is kept at the central office. Not a pound of soap, not a box of matches is bought, without a requisition, signed by the foreman, if the farm is operated directly, or by the partner if the farm is operated on the partnership plan. Each foreman and partner must submit a monthly report, which practically is an inventory of his ranch. The printed form contains the following items on which a report is demanded:

Men employed, steers on feed, stock cattle, bulls, cows, calves, sheep, work horses, mules, young horses, colts, ponies, hogs, pigs, wagons, sleds, cultivators, harrows, drills, lists, plows, corn planters, stackers, hay racks, stalk rakes, sulky rakes, binders, mowers, seeders, sets of harness, windmills, tanks, tame hay, wild hay, corn in field, corn in crib bought, corn in crib raised, oats, rye, wheat, seeds.

When the books are balanced at the close of the year a statement is made just as complete as any business corporation in the world could submit. Each year in the neighborhood of 200 carloads of material are purchased for the farm. Among the purchases are cattle 5,000 being fed this year; hogs, cotton seed meal, oil meal, tankage for hogs, bran, corn hearts, hog medicine in carload lots, axle grease, harness, sand and cement for silos all materials that are used on the farm.

One of the big items of saving on the Rankin farm is in harness, which costs several thousand dollars a year, but which would cost more than double that amount if chains were not used instead of the regulation leather type. The farm managers figure that it would require all the time of half a dozen men to keep the harness in repair if made of leather, while the chain harness practically is everlasting, although not so pleasant for the horses themselves.

The Rankin farms had under cultivation last year 22,783 acres, of which 14,000 acres was in corn, 3,000 acres in wheat and 3,000 acres in oats and 1,500 acres in alfalfa.

It was the theory of David Rankin, and it is being adhered to in the operation of the Rankin farms today, that too many farmers sell too much raw material and not enough of the finished product. It is this theory that has made the farm a cattle farm. Mr. Rankin was once asked why he did not sell his corn and sell the finished product. He said: "First, I find it profitable to feed corn, and secondly, I gain an immediate amount of fertilizer." Thus I leave my farm as rich as when I found it. The eleventh axiom of the late David Rankin was, "Thou shalt not covet." It is being followed in the operation of the farm today.

The big farms today are owned by the sons and the two daughters of David Rankin. They are W. F. Rankin and John A. Rankin of Tarkio, Mo.; Mrs. J. F. Hanna of Riverside, Cal., and Mrs. M. B. Griffin of Tarkio, Mo. The farms are operated by a corporation capitalized at $50,000, of which W. F. Rankin is president, John A. Rankin is vice president, and J. W. Hanna secretary.

The farm is not as large by more than 2,000 acres as it was when David Rankin died in 1909. One thousand acres were sold last summer and 1,000 acres a year ago. One of the axioms of David Rankin was: "Never sell thy farm." But the heirs of Mr. Rankin are trying to make the farm more compact, so that it can be operated with greater economy, and eventually it probably will be reduced to about 15,000 acres and divided among the four heirs and by them disposed of as they see fit. If the Missouri farm acreage has been reduced the loss has been made up in other states. The Rankin estate recently purchased 4,500 acres of land near Liberal, Kan., and about 9,000 acres near O'Neill, Neb.

William J. Gaynor's Remarkable Study of "The Arrest and Trial of Jesus"

While Justice of Supreme Court Late Mayor Made Exhaustive Study of Subject Extending Over Many Years Carefully Reviewed From Standpoint of Jewish Jurisprudence and Procedure Existing in First Century, A. D.

ATTEN Mayor Gaynor sailed for Europe a few weeks ago he left in his desk in the city hall certain papers and memoranda of personal interest to him. After his funeral it became the duty of his old and trusted friend, Robert Adamson, to go through these papers. In doing so he came upon an envelope, carefully sealed, on which had been written in these words: "The Arrest and Trial of Jesus."

Within the envelope Mr. Adamson found a type article of some 38 pages, bearing many corrections and alterations in Mayor Gaynor's own handwriting. It is this manuscript, written ago, collected from time to time, which is reproduced.

Always a man of deep religious feeling, the late Mr. Gaynor had pondered for decades the course and results of the greatest criminal action in human history. More than a quarter of a century ago he commenced to study accounts of the arrest and trial of Jesus of Nazareth; first by mastering Jewish jurisprudence and procedure as existing at the time of the trial in the place where it was held. With this knowledge as a basis, he then began, year by year, to analyze minutely the causes and methods of arresting Jesus; the practices displayed in the court, evidence and testimony presented, and the verdicts.

Finally, Mayor Gaynor set himself the task of comprehensively reviewing the entire matter from beginning to end. He was a justice of the supreme court during most of the years when engaged in this unusual effort. But in reviewing the case he considered not the laws of New York or the United States, but solely the laws existing among the Jewish people at the place and during the time of the trial.

The existence of this remarkable document has been known to some of the late mayor's friends. Several times he used it as a foundation of addresses delivered before private audiences, one such occasion having been a meeting of the Thursday Morning club in Great Barrington, Mass., where Justice Gaynor spoke on September 7, 1897. As far as can be ascertained, however, "The Arrest and Trial of Jesus" in its complete and final form is now published for the first time.

By WILLIAM JAY GAYNOR.

COME here to speak upon the arrest and trial of Jesus, viewed from the standpoint of regularity and legality according to the system of law and government under which they occurred. Though the subject may be one which requires us for the time being to leave out of consideration the divinity of Jesus it cannot be approached without reverence.

There seems to be hardly any idea of the fact that Jesus was tried and condemned in a court of law. The common understanding of this great event does not embrace any impression of judicial order or procedure, embracing the confronting of the accused with the witnesses against him and their examination in his presence; and this method was not confined to Rome, but was followed by the Romans wherever they established regular tribunals for the administration of justice.

The subject we are considering naturally calls up questions which embrace its whole scope. Was the arrest of Jesus lawful and regular? What was charged against him and did it constitute a crime in law? Was the Jewish court which tried him lawfully constituted and had it jurisdiction? Was the trial conducted fairly and according to law? Was the judgment of the court supported by evidence? And, finally, what was the nature of Pilate's official action and to what extent may he be held responsible for the death of Jesus?

Jesus was tried before the great Jewish council and court called the Sanhedrin, the most formal and imposing, and probably the most august, judicial tribunal which ever sat. The judges of the Sanhedrin were 70 in number, consisting of the high priest, the chief priests, the elders and the scribes (Kenevo, Brit.) In minor cases three judges made a lawful court, while in cases of life and death the requisite number was 23. There was no such thing as a sole judge in Israel. "Be not a sole judge, for there is no sole judge but One," was the law.

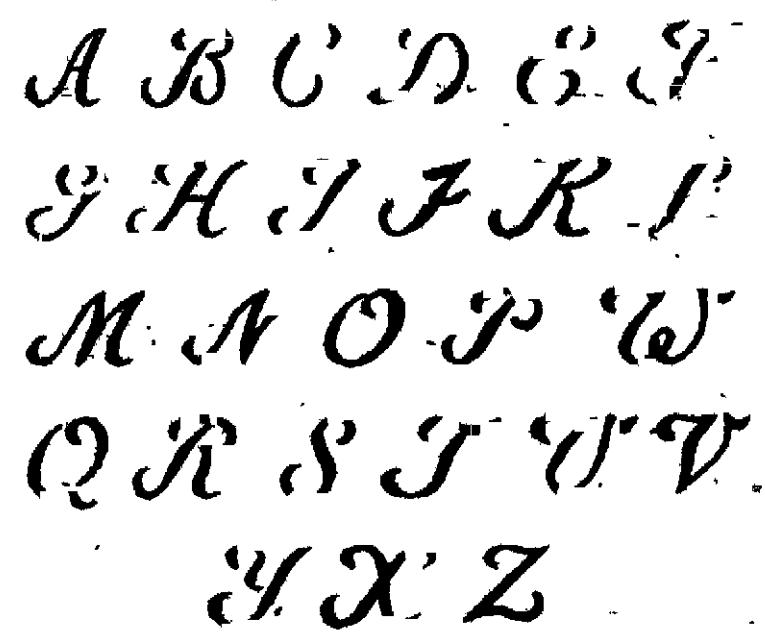

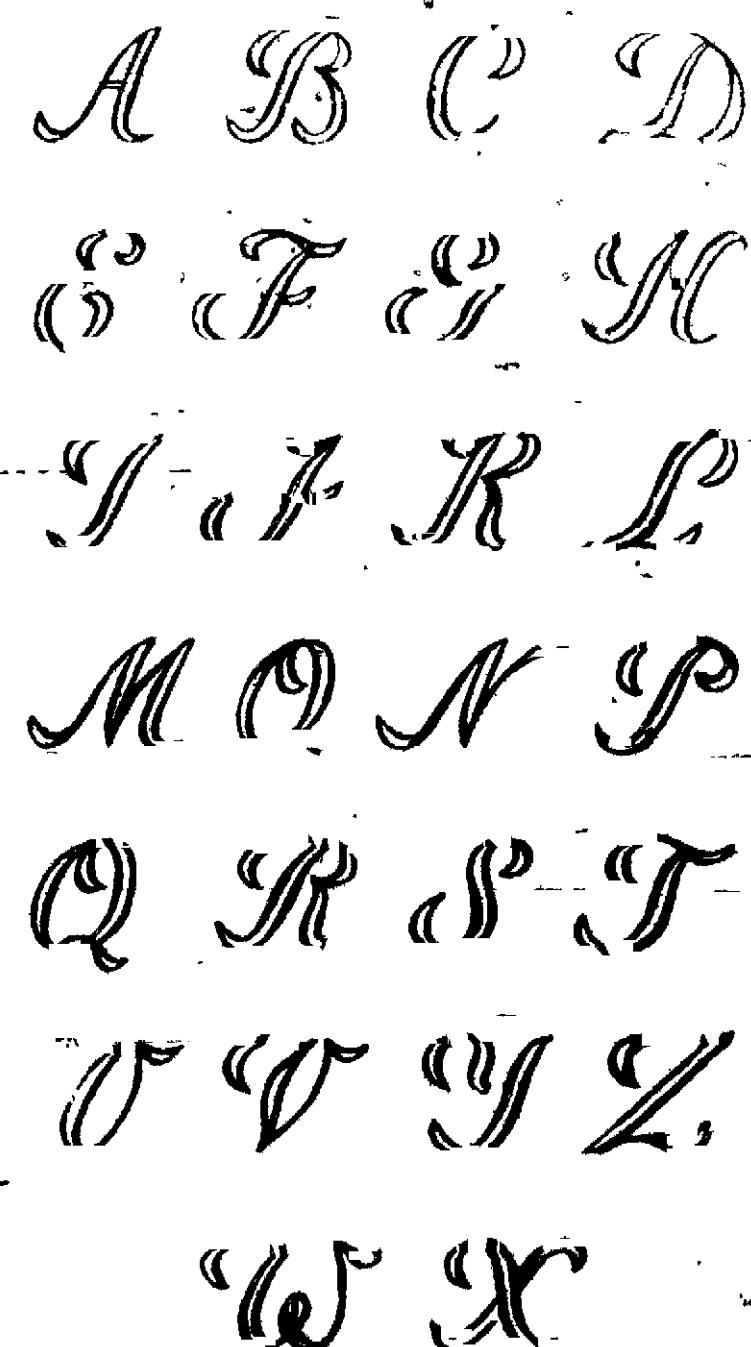

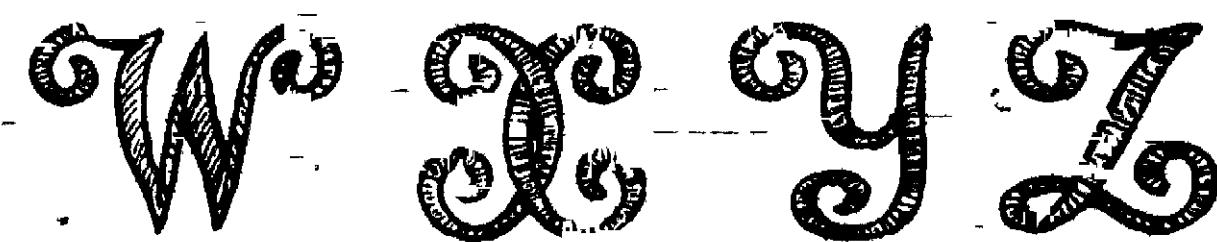

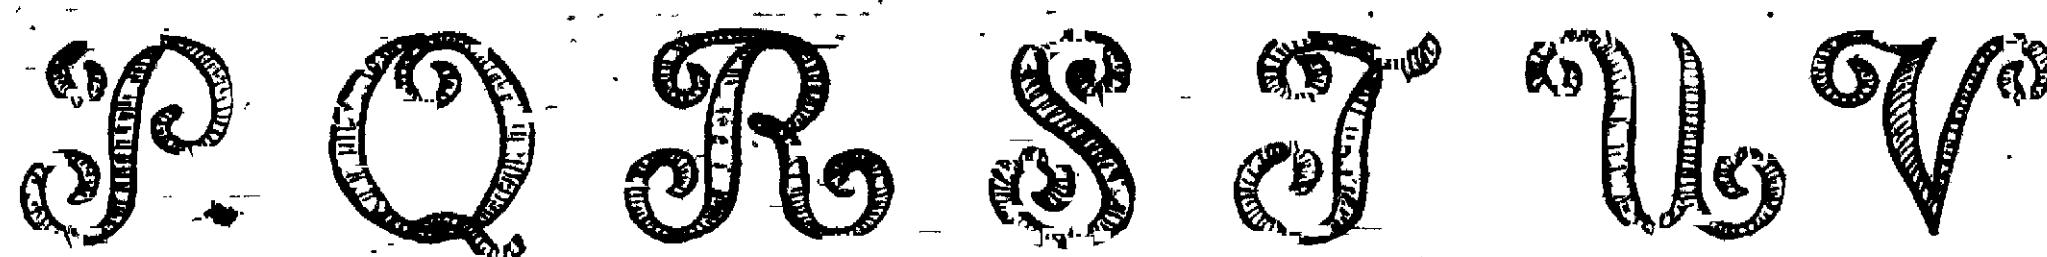

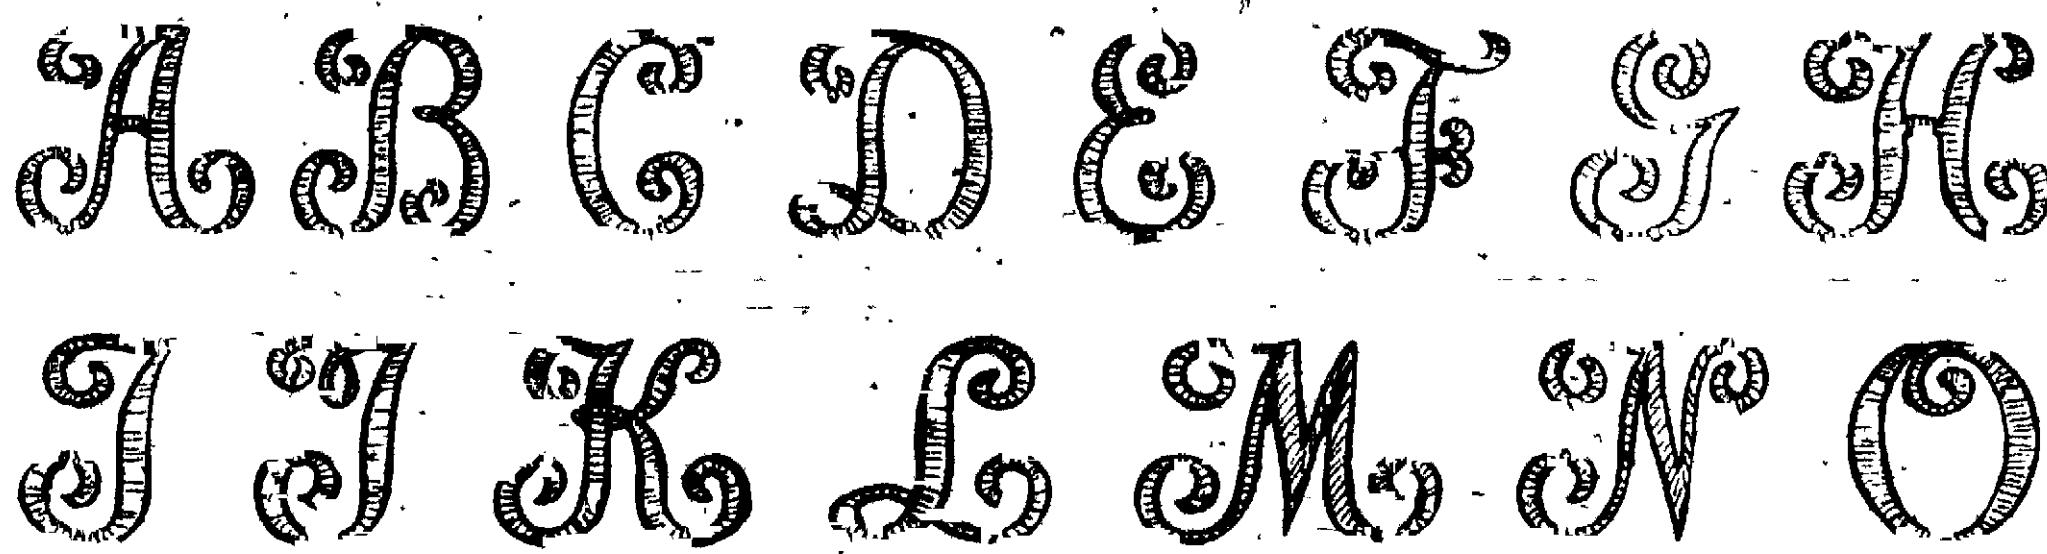

The judicature of the Jews was as exact, scrupulous and minute, especially in cases of life and death, as ever existed, and its spirit has been

WORK and PLAY for the IDLE HOUR

ATTRACTIVE ALPHABETS FOR VARIOUS USES

By Eleanor Norris

If you are planning your Christmas gifts, as every forehanded woman should do as early as possible, you will find no end of uses for the various alphabets and monograms which are given here. The largest is an excellent size for table napkins, doilies, centerpieces and the larger pieces of wearing apparel. The second size is nice for marking small linen pieces and baby's clothes. The letters used singly will be just right for men's handkerchiefs, and are quite the correct thing for this purpose. The smallest letters are desirable for marking women's handkerchiefs, either in a single letter or in monograms of two or three letters. The little wreaths and single blossoms show other methods of grouping these dainty letters. If you are nimble fingered, you will not fail to appreciate these pretty alphabets.

Miss Norris' Answers to Correspondents

Collar and Cuff Sets.

EADER—Collar and cuff sets are made on sheer material as well as the heavier linens. In some of the newest sets are made organdie or French muslin embroidery in colors, as all the newest collars are to be a riot of colors.

The material used is very sheer. It over the paper design and pin relief so it will not slip out of place. Trace on the goods with a sharp pencil.

Then heavy linen is used, place the tension paper right side down on material, over this lay the pattern, fitting firmly in place either by pins or thumb tacks.

Applique paper can be purchased in stationery or art store for ten cents a sheet. One sheet of paper will offer a number of patterns, as it is used over and over again until worn out. You can also use the er pattern many times.

You wish to make a number of collar and cuff sets for gifts, would you tell that you make some of sheer material, some on white linen and some on cream linen. The ones on sheer material can be outlined and filled with seedling stitch, which would be very attractive. The other two could be embroidered in Bulgarian hem, using the Bulgarian colors.

Coat Chains of Beads.

A K C—The coat chains to which refer are made with either small beads or the tiny gold ones and larger beads are usually the crys-taline.

A small chain is very simple of construction even if it does look ornate. It is made with two needles and with equal lengths of flossing one bead on the two threads one bead on each thread, then on both threads and so on as it goes again continuing in this way, increasing the distance between the regular intervals add one of the crystal beads, then a small section of the chain, then a large crystal and a small crystal again.

THE WORLD OF FASHION

Tub Frocks All the Year Round in Warm Houses—Velvet Makes the Prettiest Dress-Up Coat and Bonnet—Wee Scotch Lassies in Plaids—Silk and Wool Lansdowne for Dressy Frocks

EVERY mother realizes the comfort and convenience of having the children's wearables out of the way early in the season—before the serious business of growth-up dreammaking comes upon the sewing room carpet, of having the small wardrobes completely adequate for all occasions and needs, ready to hand in bureau drawers and clothes closets, the little coats and hats for school and play, the little undergarments folded by the half dozens in their receptacles and little boots in racks or shoe-bags all in perfect order.

Shopping for the little folk is easy in the early days of the season, before stocks have been mauled over and the prettiest things picked out. When juvenile garments are purchased ready-made, the task is much simplified, a day's shopping with a plentifully filled pocketbook will supply everything necessary, and in the great specialty shops devoted to children's apparel one may go from department to department with a transfer or shopping card, selecting and ordering without the Janet loss of time. Then when the boxes come home, all there is to be done is to unwrap the dainty garments and bestow them in their various resting places.

Shopping For Bargains.

But not every mother's pocketbook is plentifully filled, and a deal of shopping about is necessary to buy to best advantage. Even this usually pays, with a busy mother who has household cares to attend to, for the time spent in shopping will be much less than the time required to make up the garments in the home sewing room, and the labor of selecting in the shops less than the labor of planning and designing over the sewing machine.

Most attractive little wearables are to be had ready-made at really modest prices—if one knows where to go. Most of the big stores have a child's department, one above stairs and one in the basement. In the upstairs department are lovely hand-made things of fascinating distinction, but priced at appealing sums.

In the basement store will be practical little wearables correct in cut and good in material, yet most attractively priced. At the specialty shops prices are apt to be high, but styles are brilliant and mothers who love to make the children's little garments at home frequent these shops of ride and inspiration even when they can buy very sparingly.

Between season buying is also essential—if the children can wait until mid-season for new coats and the child will require at least three pairs of frocks. The average child is ready in the beginning of the season when or and that wear and two interchanging prices are at their highest. It is best to buy simple things of good dull cloth with buttoned tops and material and to buy in sizes larger rather than smaller. Rubbers are never necessary, for somehow should be purchased at the time boots low-priced wearables always seem to be selected, and the child's name should be written on tape with indelible ink and pasted inside each band of similar embroidery trimmed with such trimmings as are used—how

If the child is dressed entirely in white—white coat, hat, fur and frock, white buttoned buckskin boots and white stockings are permissible; but there is a strong favor this season for black boots with all street costumes, white stockings being worn with such boots if desired. In the house, buttoned strap slippers may accompany pretty frocks, and the child who dwells in a home heated by steam to summery temperature, may wear short socks all winter long. For the street, of course, long stockings will be substituted, or leggings donned unless the little one is always shod under fur robes in a heated limousine.

Plaids Much Favored for Winter Frocks.

The gay Scotch plaids are very fashionable for children this season and otherwise assume the burdensome part of the work, and two or three good paper patterns a week's work in the sewing room should satisfy the desire to "dash up the children's wardrobe for good for better" and for best.

Coats Should Be Bought Ready-Made.

The out-of-door boys should be purchased ready-made. It is impossible to believe in the home sewing room the effects of ratty smartness combined with simplicity of cut obtainable in tailored garments of even expensive character. If a moderately priced coat is purchased, however, all the more care should be given to the selection of hat and boots for these accessories if correct in size and style and when in condition, will carry off almost anything in the out line.

Velvet, organdy, net, lace, machine embroidery and lace, materials de luxe for girls. A great deal of machine embroidery is very popular, lining slips of the finest sort in red, such embroidery is very charming now than it was when illustrated is a charming girl of tucked white hair and lace embroidered banding, a lace belt emphasizing the bust.

A Red Frock Appeals to Girls

The small girl adores a red dress and has from time immemorial Every grown-up woman can look back and recall her own longings in this regard, and the red frock is no longer charming now than it was when grandmother was a little girl.

A fetching red model, made of the soft, lustrous lambswool, a mixture of wool and silk much favored for children's frocks, is effectively trimmed with corded piping and rows of tiny self-covered buttons. The waistline is low and outlined by a rather wide belt, two lines of the buttons running up and down the front of the belt, five inches apart. The waist is cut out in a shallow square over a yoke of machine embroidery and at the outer corners of the square the waist material is slashed down five inches, so that the center front of the waist seems to rise, old-fashioned, over the embroidery yoke. Rows of little buttons are set on this tab corresponding with the rows on the belt below. A button-trimmed cuff finishes the elbow sleeve and underneath is a long sleeve of the embroidery.

An attractive yet practical frock is illustrated in the little model of dark blue sateen with fresh frills of white lawn at neck and sleeves. The placket waist is admirably cut and the skirt with its shallow pleats falls in graceful lines. A smart red velvet neckbow lends a touch of color.

FOR Girls—Velvet

Velvet is the ideal fabric. All girls like it and it is well worth while to either dark or light. Velvet is trimmed with fur, as shown by the photograph, appears.

Another coat of light colored velvet is trimmed with white fur, and a bunch of black satin. Frogs of braid loops and buttons give military suggestion. White velvet beaver fur are combined in baby dandy style in another coat and net.

PROBABLY the most advanced artistic and finished dancers on the American stage today are Francis and Florette, featured among the headliners of the celebrated Anna Held all Star Variete Jubilee, being presented for the first time in the United States and Canada under the management of John Cort.

Good-nice, fancy dances and new style dances have become a much sought after pleasure—a “fad.” In New York and the eastern cities a society man or girl is not considered normal unless they are “up” on the latest steps. The debutante, the buds of New York society, the actress, whether she be vaudevillian or tragedian, the rich girl and the poor girl, alike possessing youth, are all eagerness to “get on” to the new dances. We can have no better interpretations, no better portrayal of both punctual technic and artistic grace than we find in the dancing of Francis and Florette. The terrible turkey trot is to be thrown into discard, any form of “rag” is to be done away with, and in their place come the modified forms of “The Tango,” “The Beverly,” “The Shadow,” “The Manchester,” “The Side Drop Glide,” “The Meditation Glide,” and “The Sensation Scroll.” The new dances for this winter are of a more sane, sensible and beautified quality. The waltz takes many new forms with a marked advancement of grace and simplicity. There will be no motion of the shoulders, and instead of a close contact and hugging between partners the bodies are to be held more erect with the hands extended at the sides. Swinging from the hips will not be permitted nor will hopping and jumping and gripping of the knees. The dances of last year possessed little character and less refinement. When exaggerated to even a moderate extent they became vulgar. What the dancing-masters approve of for the coming winter steps is more use of the feet, bodies more erect, heads and shoulders well up, gilding instead of hops and moderation in every movement. In the dancing of Francis and Florette, we find all of these combined, making perfect in every graceful step and artistic movement. The most interesting feature of their act is their many different original creations toward the advancement of their art. They have returned to us from Europe, where they attended the leading école de danse, and studied under the celebrated professors in Paris. Their dances are the newest, their dancing is the finest and their act is the best of its kind ever produced in America.

New York Theatrical Letter

By EMORY CALVERT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—As the theatrical season progresses and the winter draws nearer the complaint that the English actors and actresses are crowding the Americans off their own stage grows more audible. It is certainly true that here in New York there are an unprecedented number of English players holding down perfectly good jobs. It is also true that there is an unprecedented number of native players who are not holding down any job at all. Moreover, the idle ones can count among their numbers many men and women who have long since attained to prominence and artistic authority—people who have been in the habit of commanding from $200 to $500 a week, far saying their little brief say and then skidding home or to the club in their limosines. What is the reason for this? Is it because the American actor is so far inferior to his English cousin? I hardly think so. We are producing a great many plays by American authors these days and a native cast is better than an English in interpreting native plays. I think most of the New York producers would prefer to employ Americans. I only know of one considerable manager who frankly states his preference for the English artist. Then what is the matter? The matter is that to come down and the result is the condition of the American actors demand too much money. In the days when the war course I am speaking of those men against the syndicate was at its most feverish point, the hot rivalry naturally sent salaries soaring skyward. This was over now and the managers are cutting out the inflated salaries. “Why,” they argue, “should we pay $600 to an American actor when we can get one just as acceptable from England for $150?” When they put that argument up to the American actor that gentleman hauls himself up haughtily and says, “because that is my salary.” And then you are. Because they received an unreasonably large salary in the past they are too proudly crowded off the legitimate stage.

Here we have another white slave and women who have attained first rank or close to it, in their profession. As to the lesser lights who are out of work they come under the head of the poor whom “we always have with us.” It is chiefly this readjustment of salaries which has opened the door to the English actor and unless the American players are willing to swallow their pride and submit to a shaving of their former salaries they will be permanently crowded off the legitimate stage.

Here we have another white slave play. This theme seems to have taken at the highest pitch of her social and an ovation by the large and fashions complete possession of the minds and sartorial triumph the husband comes his audience and he delivered himself imaginations of our playwright. But in into the brilliant drawing room and of a most graceful curtain speech. Forbes-Robertson's Hamlet is not this instance the subject is approached from glove instead of from below. “Today” was written by George Broadhurst and Abraham S. Sohmer and its “purpose” is to show the pitfalls into which the fashionable, hasty, loving woman of today may fall. It is the story of a young wife who greedily gulps up her prosperous husband's wealth in her insatiable thirst for luxury, gowns and elegant society. Just then the young couple move into a little flat with the young man's parents, two simple and loving old servants who almost “ruin” the play by their everlasting “come-ruff.” When their Vandeville sketches have been pruned the play is apt to be weakened and make something of a record for itself. But to continue with the story. The wife is unable to deny herself the luxuries she has become accustomed to. She runs her husband into debt. Then comes the one friend, of the former days who has remained faithful to her (for a purpose). This friend tells her of a very fashionable house where very fashionable gentlemen meet. These women, with the result that the fair women are never in debt and are always dressed fit to kill. At first the young wife spurns the suggestion and then comes in that old Byronic problem: “Isn't it a pity of such a fine woman?” etc.

The last act is a real thriller. The husband finds his wife in the drawing room of the old brother and what follows is intense, powerful and absorbing ending up to the drop of the curtain.

As the young wife Emory Stevens gives a keen, meritorious performance, a genuine character study. Edwin Alden, as the husband, is very fine, especially in the last act where his coldly authoritative stand-off, “Theresa Maxwell” Conover, as the temptress, gave her continual fires their full value, and Marie Winwright, as the keeper of the fashionable resort was splendid. It is a pity that more was not unloaded for this most excellent actress. And while as the simple and amiable German maid was very sympathetic and Gus Weisberg, as her husband, supported her more than adequately.

“The Auctioneer”

The second act of David Warfield and of David Belasco was never seen to better advantage than on Broadway, when Warfield returned to the Belasco theater in its first great venture, “The Auctioneer.” The play had been renamed by the drift hand of Mr. Belasco, making it later to fit his taste better than it was at the time. Belasco caused it to become his then new discovered star.

Warfield's work was a most dramatic. As Simon, John the auctioneer of Fleetwood, Pa.—“During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

“One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong, well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice, and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter.”—Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

“From Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala.

Munford, Ala.—I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on, the gates for I could not stand to have a gate shut. I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was for such cases and I sent and got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend it to all women afflicted as I was.”—Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala.

Cripple Creek Mines

millions for Prospector Who Discovers Platinum

While the high price of platinum in the United States in 1912 encouraged prospecting for this rare metal, the production in that year was but slight, is larger than that of the preceding year. According to David T. Day, of the United States Geological Survey in an advance chapter from "Mineral Resources for 1912" on the production of platinum and allied metals recently published by the Survey, the output of crude platinum in 1912 was 751 ounces, compared to 628 units in 1911. With the exception of a small yield from the No. 20 Rambler copper mines in Albany County, Wyoming, the entire domestic production came from California and Oregon. The greater part of the California platinum was obtained as a by-product in gold dredging in Butte, Yuba, Sacramento and Calaveras counties.

The United States supply comes chiefly from the manufactured and manufactured platinum imported indirectly from Russia. In addition, 46,280 ounces of platinum sand were imported into the United States in 1912, which by the usual estimate of 50 per cent fine metal would yield 36,234 ounces of refined platinum. In all the refined platinum produced in domestic refineries from both domestic and foreign sources amounted to approximately 38,020 fine ounces, valued at $1,733,221, compared with 29,140 fine ounces similarly obtained in 1911. The total value of our platinum imports in 1912—both raw material and manufactured products—was $4,863,682, against $4,866,207 in 1911.

MODOC MINE LOADING OUT

CRIPPLE CREEK, Oct. 18.—A two-car shipment was loaded out recently from the main shaft of the "Modoc Mining & Milling company, on Battle mountain. The company is developing the lower levels of the mine, and losses are operating in the levels nearest surface. The ore shipped was medium grade.

NEW YORK MARKET

CHICAGO MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The turn in the tide on the stock exchange, which began in a hesitating way yesterday, came definitely today. Leading stocks were marked up 1 to 2 points. The tone of the market was strong from first to last. Corn, cotton and sugar, and Averasburg Beet Sugar were the only important exceptions to the general movement.

It was generally conceded that chief support for the advance was derived from shorts covering. There were indications, however, of more vigorous operations for the long position. The September statement of domestic exports was above expectations, showing a gain of $8,000,000 over the corresponding period in 1912. An increase of $8,000,000 in cotton accounted for the improvement.

The weekly review of the commercial agencies indicated that general business was more active than a year ago. Unofficial reports from Washington about important changes would be made in the currency bill by the Senate committee were classed by speculators as good news.

The outstanding feature of the bank statement was the actual reduction in loans of $24,880,000, which reflected the freeing of credits as a result of the withdrawal of liquid assets. There was a corresponding reduction in deposits, and as the amount of currency in circulation showed a substantial increase.

Bonds were irregular and derived little benefit from the rise in stocks.

United States registered advanced 4%; the 2s. coupon, 2%; the 4s, 4%; and Panama, 2%, 4% on call on the week. Quotations furnished by Orls & Co.

definite but prolonged period is excellent.

Preparations are now being made for the sinking of the main shaft to such depth as may be attained before the water level is reached, and the actual work will shortly commence.

Quarterly dividends have now been declared this month by the Golden Cycle Mining company, the Portland Gold Mining company, the Vindicator Consolidated Gold Mining company and the Mary McKinley Mining company, and the total sum to be distributed this month by these companies is $176,185.44.

Dividends have also been paid by the so-called close corporations, the Crimson Consolidated Gold Mining and Milling company, and the Strong Gold Mining company but the amounts of their several distributions are not made a matter of public record.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—It was only after a further recession of prices that the stock market this week showed signs of sufficient absorptive power to resist effectively the fall tendency. The corporation loan market, shown in the bank statement, indicated that a release of credits had accompanied the stock market liquidation. This was in spite of the fact that a considerable portion of the liquidation was from foreign sources.

The discouraging view of the outlook usual in a period of declining prices were prevalent, and the reasons assigned for these views did not differ materially from those heard for the most part. Rumor, based on no tangible developments, had it that the administration at Washington was planning extensive legislation on antitrust lines. There was active discussion of the government's suit to develop the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific. Assertions made in regard to the financial crisis of the Glass were current, but had little influence on the market. The stock market was steady, and the market was quiet, with no major fluctuations.

Former Liverpool quotations and ledgers of receipts northwest of the wheat market a strong start. Wall street advised, too, were more reassuring and it was said miners showed signs of taking wheat on a larger scale. As a result shorts were forced to cover in a lively manner, but investment demand proved unimpressive.

When it began to appear that the upturn in wheat would go only a moderate distance, many of the early buyers jumped back to the selling side. Chances of a further gain in the visible supply Monday, top of a known increase of 20,000,000 bushels compared with last year, and a discouraging effect on the bulls. Pressure returned to such an extent that all the advance was lost, and closing prices were at the lowest level of the day.

Punishing prospects for the cotton market were a factor in shaping opinions over the business prospect, although the mercantile agencies reported greater activity in business than a year ago.
